NEWS OF THE DAY.

—The grasshoppers are eating up the crops in the northern part of Nebraska.

—San Francisco is in a panic over small-pox. Over 400 cases were reported last month.

—The Boston Post, Dem., calls Tilden a political thingumbob. That's rough on Samuel J.

—Four companies of the Fourth Artillery, at San Francisco, have been ordered to Cheyenne.

—A man was arrested at the Centennial last week for covering a piano stool with a Boston girl's glove.

—Baltimore is striving hard to outstrip New York and Philadelphia in the exportation of petreleum.

—The dory "Centennial," from Gloucester, Mass., for Liverpool, was spoken fifteen miles from Tuskan light.

—The parties accused of complicity in the Hamburg riot were before Judge Maher, at Aiken, on Thursday, and gave bail in $1,000 each.

—Advices from San Domingo report that an insurrection has broken out in the Cibao provinces, forming the northern part of the Dominican republic.

—Two men employed at Bard's paper mill in Logansport, Ind., fell into a vat of boiling water on Friday. One, Charles Strobe, will probably die.

—The work of restoring the tomb of Heloise and Abelard in Pere Lachaise cemetery, near Paris, has been suspended on account of a lack of funds.

—The 70th anniversary of the Emperor William's entrance into the Prussian army will occur January 1, 1877. He began military life before he was ten years of age.

—Jenkins Showell, colored, convicted of an outrage, was hanged at the county alms house near Snow Hill, Md., on Friday. The execution was witnessed by 2,500 persons.

—Bret Harte's popularity in Germany seems well attested by the fact that four different translations of "Gabriel Conroy" are announced for appearance there almost simultaneously.

—Lovers of excitement will be pained to learn that William Allen has declined to take the stump for Cooper and Cary, and the woods of Ohio will not bend this Fall before the stormy diapason of his ten-octave organ.

—Judge Avery, of the Common Pleas Court of Hamilton county, Ohio, continued the injunction against the erection of poles for the Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph Company on the right of way of the Cincinnati and Indianapolis Railroad.

—Thomas Barton Quackenbush was hanged at Batavia, N. Y., on Friday morning, for the murder of Mrs. Sarah Norton, on the 1st of December, 1875. He confessed that he did the deed, but denied murderous intentions, he having been under the influence of liquor when he killed her.

—The Hayes and Wheeler badge is a little metal pitchfork with a formidable pair of prongs, whereupon to impale their adversaries. They look as if they would make it hot for Tilden. The badge is worn on the coat lappel, and has the imprint of the candidates upon it.

—It is reported that Mr. Con Maguire, one of the persons now fulfilling a term of imprisonment at St. Louis for defrauding the revenue, was married a few days ago. Whether the wedding was performed in the jail or out of it is a question that at present disturbs the slumbers of the society reporters.

—A young lady at Long Branch writes to her schoolmate in this city the following judicious words: "Dear Carrie, if you conclude to come next week, don't bring any striped stockings with you. The sand flies seem to love them better than anything, and it's awful awkward to get down and scratch."

—Boston Globe: A gravestone dealer in Salem has added a new and profitable branch to his business, and dispenses, in addition to the products of the marble-cutting art, watermelons and early apples. This is certainly a happy combination of trade, for each branch is likely to increase the patronage of the other.

—Green Clay Smith, the Prohibition candidate for President, addressed two meetings in Columbus, Ohio, on Friday, and a Convention was held, which nominated H. M. Roberts, a Presbyterian minister, for Congress. Smith advocated woman suffrage, and claims that the public debt could only be paid by saving the money expended in liquor.

—The discussion of extradition has been postponed till the next session of Parliament, owing to Mr. Disraeli's reluctance to have the blunder of his administration further exposed at this time. The Ministry, in the end, will have only a choice of humiliations—either to send us Winslow, Gray and the rest and beg our pardon to submit to defeat in Parliament.

—During the last twenty years the British Government has added five hundred and seventy-three ships to the navy by building, and has purchased forty-four more. It has sold one hundred and ten, broken up one hundred and twenty-five, and thirty-one have been lost. The number of Gatling guns in use is being rapidly increased. The large iron-clads are now all armed with them, and several have lately been sent to Malta for the Mediterranean fleet.

—Governor Hendricks faithfully represents his party. He repeats and adopts the assertion, made by the St. Louis platform, that the national taxes have increased from $5 per capita in 1860 to $18 per capita in 1870. This statement is not true. The total receipts of the United States Government from taxation in 1860 were $53,187,511.87, which, with a population of 31,400,500, was $1.69 per capita. The total receipts of the Government in 1870 from taxation were $379,667,233.81, or only $9.86 per capita. It is natural that Governor Hendricks and his party prefer to ignore the war.—N. Y. Tribune.

—The Rochester Democrat reports that the scalp and war costume of Yellow Hand, a Cheyenne chief, have arrived in that city and are on exhibition at a prominent cigar store in Rochester, "where they have attracted the attention of a large number of people." They are "the scalp of the noble Cheyenne, headdress, shield, blanket, bowie knife, whip and bridle." This was sent to Rochester by one of our fighting people who killed Yellow Hand and scalped him. The public display of this Indian's scalp is a disgrace to civilization. We have to fight the Indian, unfortunately, but let us do as Christians and not savages.

—A Kansas City dispatch says on Thursday night a man named Conley was taken from the house of a friend, with whom he was stopping, by fifteen armed men, who told him he was wanted. They took him down the Missouri Pacific road some distance, where they joined another party of fifteen men with an engine and a car in waiting. Conley was put in a car, taken to Wyandotte, Ks., where, after questioning him, the party asked him to show his hands, and after examining them they said: "You look like a workingman, and you can go." Conley remonstrated at being treated this way, but the leader of the party only replied: "We are through with you. Go." The party then ran up to Pomeroy, fifteen miles above Wyandotte, where they claim to have found the nest of the train robber.

—Bishop Whipple, of Minnesota, thus writes to President Grant: I yield to no man in my sympathy for the brave men of the border, who are always the first victims of savage hate. Every generous feeling of my heart goes out for the brave soldiers who, without one thought of self, go out to die; and yet I can but feel that for every life lost in such a war the nation is guilty which for 100 years has persisted in a policy which always ends in massacre and war. Every friend of the Indian owes you a deep debt of gratitude for honorably trying to give us a better policy. The so-called peace policy was commenced when we were at war. The Indian tribes were either openly hostile or sullen and turbulent. The new policy was a marvelous success. I do honestly believe that it has done more for the civilization of the Indians than all which the Government has done before.

THE WHISKY FRAUDS.

The Immunity Feature of the Prosecutions.

WASHINGTON, August 11.—Asa C. Mathews, Supervisor of Internal Revenue at Chicago, was examined this afternoon by the sub-committee on whisky frauds. He gave a history of the immunity feature of the whisky prosecutions, and said when he came to Washington on the 21st of December, on business connected with this subject, he saw Secretary Bristow, who was inclined to reject the terms of immunity proposed to those who should plead guilty, as the terms were too broad and as they were paying too much for information, and the Secretary further said he would leave the matter to the discretion of the District Attorney and special counsel. Solicitor Wilson said about the same thing. The terms of immunity finally agreed on had the effect of entirely breaking up the whisky ring.

Moulton vs. Beecher.

NEW YORK, August 11.—Gen. Roger A. Pryor, counsel for Francis D. Moulton in the suit against Henry Ward Beecher for malicious prosecution, received the answer of the defendant through Beecher's attorneys. Beecher denies specifically that Moulton was ready or anxious to stand trial on an indictment for libel. Beecher denies that he ever requested the District Attorney of Kings county to take any steps concerning a nolle prosequi. He concludes by averring that his testimony concerning Moulton given before the Grand Jury was true.

HEART OF AFRICA.

A White Race in the Center of Ethiopia.

Further Account of Stanley's Explorations—The Parent of the Victoria Nile—Ulcerous Bodies in Migata's Hot Springs.

KAWANGA, FRONTIER VILLAGE,
BETWEEN UNYORO AND UGANDA,
CENTRAL AFRICA, Jan. 18, 1876.

Six days ago the Anglo-American expedition, under my command, and 2,000 choice spearman of Uganda under command of "General" Samboozi, were encamped at Unyampaka Unyoro, on the shore of the Albert Niyanza. Mtesa, Emperor of Uganda, faithfully fulfilled his promise to me so far as to furnish me with force sufficient to pierce the hostile country of Kabba Rega and to penetrate to the Albert Niyanza, near which we encamped three days. But though we were successful so far as to reach the lake, drink of its waters, take a couple of astronomical observations and procure much information respecting the contiguous countries, I soon perceived that exploration of the lake was out of the question, unless I then and there resolved to terminate my journey with the exploration of the Albert. For having penetrated by force through Kabba Rega's country, it would have been folly to expect that 2,200 men could long occupy Unyanpaka in the face of the thousands which Kabba Rega, King of Unyore, and Mtambuko, King of Ankeri, would array against them. So we accordingly returned to Uganda. During the expedition we obtained a passing glimpse of the king of mountains, Gambaragara, which attains an altitude of between 13,000 and 15,000 feet above the ocean. Snow is frequently seen, though not perpetual. On its summit dwell the chief medicine men of Kabba Rega, a people of European complexion. Some half dozen of these people I have seen, and at sight of them I was reminded of what Mukamba, King of Uzigo, told Livingstone and myself respecting white people who live far north of his country. They are a handsome race, and some of the women are singularly beautiful. Their hair is kinky, but inclined to brown in color. Their features are regular, lips thin, but their noses, though well shaped, are somewhat thick at the point. Several of their descendants are scattered throughout Unyoro, Ankori and Ruanda, and the royal family of the latter powerful country are distinguished, I am told, by their pale complexions. The Queen of Sasua islands, in the Victoria Niyanza, is a descendant of this tribe.

Whence Came These People?

Whence came these singular people I have had no means of ascertaining except from the Waganda, who say that the first King of Unyoro gave them the land around the base of Gambaragara mountain, wherein through many vicissitudes they have continued to reside for centuries. On the approach of an invading host they retreat to the summit of the mountain, the intense cold of which defies the most determined of their enemies. Two years ago Emperor Mtesa despatched his Prime Minister with about 100,000 men to Gambaragara and Usongora; but though the great General of Uganda occupied the slopes and ascended a great height in pursuit, he was compelled by the inclement climate to descend without having captured more than a few black slaves, the pale-faced tribe having retreated to their impregnable fortress at the summit. Two men of this tribe, who might be taken at first glance for Greeks in white shirts, accompanied our expedition to Lake Albert and back to Uganda, but they were extremely uncommunicative, and nothing of the history of their tribe could I obtain from them. Their diet consists of milk and bananas, and they were the only men of rank in the entire force under Samboozi who possessed more than two milch cows to supply them with milk while on the march. Sekajugu, to whom they were friendly and under whom they had enrolled themselves, states that they rebelled against Kabba Rega, and, to avoid his vengeance, sought refuge with him.

Another Strange Tribe.

Africa is certainly the "haunt of light-headed fable," romance and superstition, but I shall believe hereafter that there exists some slight modicum of truth in all the statements and revelations of these simple people. On the shores of the Victoria, in Usukuma, I heard of a people far north possessing very large dogs, of such fierce nature that they are often taken to war against the enemies of their masters. These people I subsequently ascertained to be the Wakedi, a tribe living north of Usoga. The same people also, in their various wars with Uganda, have frequently been found wearing iron armor. About four years ago, when exploring the Tan Ganyika with Livingstone, I heard there existed a race of white people north of Uzige. At that time Livingstone and myself smiled at the absurdity of a white people living in the heart of Africa, and ascribed the report to the brown color of the Warundi. Now I have not only seen the country of these white people, but several specimens of themselves at different periods and in different places. Were it not for the negroid hair I should say they were Europeans or some light colored Asiatics, such as Syrians or Armenians. Though we made strict inquiries we could discover no news of Gordon or his steamers. The natives of Unyampaka had never heard of a ship or any vessel larger than a canoe; and it is impossible that a vessel so singular as a steamer could approach near Usongora without the news of so singular an apparition becoming notorious.

A Great Salt Field.

Usongora is the great salt field whence all the surrounding countries obtain their salt. It is, from all accounts, a very land of wonders, but the traveller desirous of exploring it should have a thousand Sniders to protect him, for the natives, like those of Ankori, care for nothing but milk and goat skins. Among the wonders credited to it are a mountain emitting "fire and stones," a salt lake of considerable extent, several hills of rock salt, a large plain encrusted thickly with salt and alkali, a breed of very large dogs of extraordinary ferocity, and a race of such long-legged natives that ordinary mortals regard them with surprise and awe. The Waganda who have invaded their country for the sake of booty, ascribe a cool courage to them against which all their numbers and well known expertness with shield and spear were of little avail. They are, besides, extremely clannish, and allow none of their tribe to intermarry with strangers, and their diet consists solely of milk. Their sole occupation consists in watching their cows, of which they have an immense number; and it was to capture some of those herds that the Emperor of Uganda sent 100,000 men under his Prime Minister to Usongora. The expedition was successful, for by all accounts the Waganda returned to their country with about 20,000; but so dearly were they purchased with the loss of human life that it is doubtful whether such a raid will again be attempted to Usongora.

Parent of the Victoria Nile.

Under date of March 27, 1876, Mr. Stanley gives an account of his exploration of Speke's Lake Windermere and Kagera river: On entering the latter it flashed on my mind that it was the real parent of the Victoria Nile; by sounding I found fifty-two feet of water in a river fifty yards wide. I proceeded on my voyage three days up the river, and came to another lake about nine miles long and a mile in width, situate on the right hand of the stream. At the southern end of the lake, and after working our way through two miles of papyrus, we came to the island of Unyamubi, a mile and a half in length. Ascending the highest point on the island the secret of the Ingenzi or Kagera was revealed. Standing in the middle of the island I perceived it was about three miles from the coast of Karagwe and three miles from the coast of Kishakka west, so that the width of the Ingezi at this point was about six miles, and north it stretched away broader, and beyond the horizon green papyri mixed with broad gray gleams of water. I discovered, after further exploration, that the expanses of papyri floated over a depth of from nine to fourteen feet of water; that the papyri, in fact, covered a large portion of a long, shallow lake; that the river, though apparently a mere swift, flowing body of water confined apparently within proper banks by dense, tall fields of papyri, was a mere current, and that underneath the papyri it supplied a lake, varying from five to fourteen miles in width and about eighty geographical miles in length. Descending the Kagera again, some five miles from Unyamubi, the boat entered a large lake on the left side, which, when explored, proved to be thirteen geographical miles in length by eight in breadth. Throughout the entire length (eighty miles) the Kagera maintains almost the same volume and almost the same width, discharging its surplus waters to the right and to the left as it flows on, feeding, by means of the underground channels, what might be called by an observer on land seventeen separate lakes, but which are in reality one lake, connected together underneath the fields of papyri, and by lagoon-like channels meandering tortuously enough between detached fields of the most prolific reed.

Hot Springs of Migata.

On returning from my voyage of exploration I visited the hot springs of Migata, which have obtained such renown throughout all the neighboring countries for their healing properties. I discovered a most astonishing variety of plants, herbs, trees and bushes; for here Nature was in her most prolific mood. She shot forth her products with such vigor that each plant seemed to strangle the other for want of room. They so clamored over one another that small hills of brush were formed, the lowest in the heap stifled by the uppermost, and through the heaps thus formed tall mvules shot forth an arrow's flight into the upper air, with globes of radiant, green foliage upon their stem-like crowns. The springs were visited at this time by numbers of diseased persons. Male and female were seen lying promiscuously in the hot pools half asleep, while their itchy and ulcerous bodies were being half cooked. The hottest issued in streams from the base of a rocky hill, and when Fahrenheit's thermometer was placed in the water the mercury rose to 129 degrees. Four springs bubbled upward from the ground through a depth of dark, muddy sediment, and had a temperature of 110 degrees. These were the most favored by the natives, and the curative reputation of the springs was based on the properties of this water.

FORTY-FOURTH CONGRESS.

FIRST SESSION.

WASHINGTON August 11, 1876.

SENATE.

At the expiration of the morning hour Mr. LOGAN moved to postpone the unfinished business, the resolution of Mr. Morton to print extra copies of the President's message in relation to the Hamburg difficulty, and take up the House bill for the equalization of bounties of those who served in the late war for the Union. Rejected—yeas 21, nays 26.

Messrs. Key and McDonald voted with the Republicans in the affirmative, and Messrs. Booth, Burnside, Christiancy, Edmunds, Howe, Morrill, Sargent and Sherman with the Democrats in the negative.

The Post Routes.

Unfinished business was then postponed and the bill to establish post routes taken up. Amendments were agreed to appropriating $150,000 for the restoration of fast mail trains on the New York Central & Hudson Railroad, Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Railroad between New York and Chicago, and on the Pennsylvania Railroad and its connections between New York and St. Louis, Cincinnati and Chicago, and also appropriating $75,000 for the restoration of the fast mail service on the Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore Railroad, and on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad and its connections between Washington, St. Louis and Chicago.

Mr. BOGY submitted an amendment to continue the fast mail service from Chicago to St. Louis. Agreed to.

Pending the discussion the Chair laid before the Senate a message from the President enclosing a telegram from Lieutenant General Sheridan and a letter from Gen. Sherman in regard to the existing Indian troubles and probable necessity of increasing the force operating against them. Ordered printed and referred.

The Senate then resumed consideration of the Post Route bill.

Mr. WITHERS submitted an amendment as an additional section authorizing the Postmaster General to contract for a fast mail service from Washington to New Orleans via Richmond, Va., and appropriating $100,000 for that purpose. Agreed to.

Mr. ALLISON submitted an amendment to authorize the] Postmaster General to contract for a daily mail between Chicago and the eastern terminous of the Union Pacific railroad, the cost of the extra service not to exceed $25,000 per annum. Agreed to.

The Franking Privilege.

MR. PADDOCK submitted an amendment as an additional section to the bill to restore the franking privilege reported by him from the Committee on Postoffices and Postroads on the 25th of May last. It provides that it shall be lawful to transmit through the mail, free of postage, letters, packages or other matter relating exclusively to business of the Government of the United States, and also that Senators, Representatives and Delegates in Congress, the Secretary of the Senate and Clerk of the House of Representatives may send and receive through the mails, free of postage, letters and documents.

Mr. HOWE favored the restoration of the franking privilege, and moved an amendment so as to allow Senators, Representatives and Delegates in Congress, the Secretary of the Senate and Clerk of the House of Representatives to send and receive letters and documents only, and not packages, and other matter relating exclusively to public business. Agreed to.

The amendment of Mr. Paddock restoring that privilege was agreed to—yeas 30, nays 15—as follows:

Yeas—Messrs. Allison, Burnside, Christiancy, Cooper, Cragin, Davis, Dawes, Dennis, Edmunds, Frelinghuysen, Gordon, Harney, Howe, Ingalls, Kelly (Ky.), Marcey, Merrimon, Mitchell, Norwood, Paddock, Patterson, Randolph, Ransom, Saulsbury, Spencer, Stevenson, Wallace, West and Withers—30.

Nays—Messrs. Anthony, Bogy, Booth, Cameron (Wis.), Clayton, Cockerell, Ferry, Hamlin, Kernan, Logan, McCreery, McDonald, McMillan, Morrill and Oglesby—15.

The bill was reported to the Senate and the amendments made in the Committee of the Whole agreed to.

Mr. HAMLIN moved to further amend it, so as to provide that contracts made by the Postmaster General for fast mail service shall not be for a longer period than two years. Agreed to.

Mr. RANDOLPH said he voted for the restoration of the franking privilege under a misapprehension. He intended to vote against its restoration.

Mr. HITCHCOCK renewed his amendment made in Committee of the Whole appropriating $40,000 for fast mail service between Chicago and Omaha. Agreed to.

The bill was read a third time and passed—yeas 25, nays 18.

The School Amendment.

On motion of Mr. EDMUNDS the Senate took up the joint resolution of the House proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, prohibiting the appropriation of money for the support of schools of religious sects, and then took a recess until 7:30.

At the evening session the subject was resumed. The question being on the amendment of the Judiciary Committee, it was agreed to—yeas 27, nays 15.

The question then being on ordering the joint resolution as demanded to a third reading, it was agreed to—yeas 27, nays 15.

The Senate by a vote of yeas 27 and nays 12 ordered that the joint resolution be read the third time at 1 o'clock to-morrow.

Tax on Spirits.

Mr. HARVEY submitted a resolution providing for a commission to examine into the method of collecting the internal revenue tax on distilled spirits and fermented liquors. Referred.

Indian Appropriations.

Mr. WINDOM, from the conference committee on the Indian Appropriation bill, submitted a report that the committee had agreed, and moved that it be non-concurred in.

The old conferees on the part of the Senate were reappointed.

The Senate then went into executive session, and soon after adjourned.

HOUSE.

Indian Scouts.

On motion of Mr. BANNING, the Senate bill repealing so much of the Army Appropriation bill as limits the number of Indian scouts to three hundred, and continuing in force the statute which authorizes the employment of one thousand scouts, was taken from the Speaker's table, and, after explanation by him, passed.

The Venezuelan Claims.

The report of the Committee on Foreign Affairs in regard to the Venezuelan claims was considered.

After reading the report discussion ensued as to the character of the claims, the greater portion of which were declared to be without merit. Finally the resolution was passed.

Conference Reports.

Mr. WADDELL made a conference report on the Pacific Mail Steamship bill. The report merely makes more explicit the language, guarding against any construction that might recognize the extra subsidy contract. The report was agreed to.

Mr. RANDALL made a conference report on the Indian Appropriation bill. He said the bill as agreed to was a saving over last year's bill of $690,437. The report was agreed to.

The Cavalry.

The Speaker pro tem. laid before the House a message from the President with communications from the Secretary of War, General Sherman and General Sheridan, recommending an increase of the cavalry force of the army by 2,500 men, or authority to call out five regiments of volunteer cavalry of 1,000 men each. Referred.

Mr. J. H. BAGLEY (N. Y.) made a conference report on the bill to punish counterfeiting of trade mark goods. After argument the conference report was rejected—68 to 84.

This is equivalent to the defeat of the bill.

Final Adjournment.

Mr. MORRISON offered a resolution for final adjournment on Monday next at four o'clock. Agreed to without discussion or division.

Adjourned.

The Alabama Election.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., August 11.—Returns from fifty four counties give Houston a majority of 36,671. Eleven counties to hear from in 1874 gave a Democratic majority of 3,602. The Senate stands twenty-seven Democrats, one Independent, and four Republicans, and the House eighty-three Democrats, two Independents and fifteen Republicans.

SECOND EDITION

NEWS FROM ABROAD.

The Freshest Gleanings from the Old World.

THE WAR IN TURKEY.

LONDON, August 11.—A correspondent at Belgrade telegraphs: The toils are closing around Servia. Abdul Kerim Pacha is pushing westward from Gurgusovatz, and the Servian general Harvatovick has fallen back on Yankovo and Klissur. Hard fighting began at Yankovo on Wednesday, and is still continuing. If the Turks carry Yankovo there will be no important obstacle in the way to Bonja. The army of the South is faring badly, and has retreated from Yavoro to the interior. All available guns are being mounted upon the ramparts at the fortress at Belgrade.

Correspondents note the fact that many Servians are coming to the rear, slightly wounded in the hand or forearm, and believe they shoot themselves to avoid battle.

Col. Antitch's retreat to Ivanitza means a much further retreat. Ivanitza is surrounded by high hills, affording the Turks excellent offensive positions. The fact is the Servian war is about to assume a much less ambitious character than when first undertaken, and is about to resolve itself into a guerilla affair.

BELGRADE, August 11.—No proposal for mediation has been submitted to Servia by Austria or Russia.

BUCHAREST, August 11.—The Chamber of Deputies has voted $40,000 for the relief of Servian families that have taken refuge in Roumania. The number of refugees is estimated at 20,000.

LONDON, August 11.—The Times' Paris special says the Turkish aim is to anticipate mediation by according to the vanquished Servians and to Montenegro, vanquished or not, conditions acceptable enough to be approved before mediation could be accomplished.

VIENNA, August 11.—The Servians are engaged in strengthening the fortifications of the capital at every point. The Minister of the Interior is making contracts for heavy supplies of provisions, and the city will be defended as long as possible.

LONDON, August 12.—A telegram from Constantinople says the Sultan has granted complete amnesty to the Bulgarians implicated in the rising, with the exception of the leaders and active movers in the revolt.

The Standards' Belgrade correspondent telegraphs that it is unofficially reported that Tchernayeff's attempts against Nisch have resulted in failure. The position from which Nisch was to have been bombarded has been reoccupied by the Turks. It is the determination of the Servians to make a stand at Alexintz if the soldiers will fight, which is doubtful. Fugitives are encamped for fifty miles on the sides of the roads leading to Paratchin. The Princess of Servia has issued an appeal for volunteers to enter a legion named after herself. The legion consists mainly of foreigners, and is fast filling up in response to her appeal.

VIENNA, August 12.—A dispatch to Le Soir of Paris asserts that the Turks continue to massacre Christians in Bosnia, that many villages are empty, their inhabitants having been slaughtered, that terrible atrocities have been committed, and hundreds of dead bodies are floating down the Ula. An inquiry into the acts of the Turks in Bosnia is imperatively demanded.

LONDON, August 12.—A Ragusa correspondent of the Times says the Porte has repelled the pacificatory overture, declaring it will risk everything. The Porte also persists in employing Circassians and Bashi Bazouks.

GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, August 11.—Further correspondence respecting the Bulgarian atrocities was laid before Parliament yesterday. Among the most important papers was a dispatch from Lord Derby to Sir Henry Elliot, British Ambassador at Constantinople, sent on the 9th inst., which says: It appears to Her Majesty's Government that the capture of Saitschar may lead to the occupation of a considerable part of Servia by Turkey. Therefore I instruct you to urge strongly on the Porte that it is absolutely necessary its troops should be kept under control, that the unarmed population be spared, and that a repetition of the outrages in Bulgaria be avoided. You will point out that a renewal of such outrages would prove more disastrous to the Porte than the loss of a battle. The indignation of Europe would be uncontrolable, and interference in a sense hostile to Turkey inevitably follow.

LONDON, August 12.—It is reported that Disraeli is about to be raised to the House of Lords, with the title Earl of Baconsfield.

FRANCE.

PARIS, August 11.—As President MacMahon and wife were returning yesterday from Versailles to Paris in a post chaise the horses were frightened by the Gens de Arms drum corps, and ran away. The post chaise came in collision with a cart, and the driver was thrown to the ground and badly hurt. The President and wife escaped unhurt, and finished their journey in another carriage.

VERSAILLES, August 11.—The Senate to-day is discussing the Municipal bill. An amendment declaring members of certain professions ineligible to municipal functions, which was strongly supported by the Right for the purpose of compelling the return of the bill to the Chamber of Deputies, thus postponing it until next session, was defeated.

PARIS, August 11.—The municipal bill passed the Senate by 126 yeas and 90 nays, and has been adopted by the Deputies without discussion.

WASHINGTON TOPICS.

Members of Congress Going Home.

Sixty-three members of the House are absent on leave, fifteen without leave, and others are preparing to leave before adjournment, which, it is generally thought, will take place not later than Tuesday or Wednesday.

Bluford Wilson's Slanderers.

Internal Revenue Agent Gavett, writing from Jacksonville, Ill., complains that Bluford Wilson has falsely and maliciously slandered him before the Whisky Fraud Committee, and encloses a copy of a letter from Superintendent Mathews and one from Ex-Commissioner Pratt, the latter dated July 29, in which Gavett's character as an officer and man is strongly endorsed.

Cavalry for the Frontier.

The President on Friday sent a message to Congress urging, in view of a possible contingency during the vacation, that provision be made for more troops in the Indian country, and suggesting that if an increase of the present cavalry force by 2,500 be deemed inadvisable, that he be authorized to call out five regiments of volunteers, each one thousand strong, for a period not exceeding six months.

Supervising Architect of the Treasury.

James G. Hill, of Boston, who has been for two years Assistant Supervising Architect of the Treasury, and for several years previous a draughtsman in that bureau, has been appointed Supervising Architect. The appointment is made by the Secretary of the Treasury, and is not subject to confirmation by the Senate.

Consular and Diplomatic.

The committee of conference on Consular and Diplomatic Appropriation bill came to an agreement yesterday, the mode of adjustment having been suggested by Secretary Fish, through Assistant Secretary of State Cadwalader. The bill will be reported to the two Houses to-day. The difference between the conferees of the Senate and House was $250,000. The conferees agreed to reduce this amount one half and to abolish twenty-two of the consulates at points where it is supposed they are not absolutely required. On the diplomatic branch of the bill the differences of the conferees were to the extent of $160,000. These were adjusted, as in the preceding instance, by reducing the amount one half and correspondingly reducing the number of Ministers Resident.

THE INDIAN WAR.

GEN. TERRY REINFORCED.

The Expedition to Have Started on the 7th After the Savages—Thanks to Brave Soldiers.

ST. PAUL, MINN., August 11.—A special dispatch from Bismarck transmits the following from Terry's camp, at the mouth of Rosebud creek, August 5: Colonel Otis, with six companies of the Twenty-second Infantry, arrived on the 2d, and General Miles with six companies of the Fifth, reached the camp on the next day. The sight of these two fine battalions was most charming to our men, who are jubilant, but lack something of the elasticity which characterized them in the early days of the campaign. Our fellows are in a temper which will render them dangerous antagonists, but they present a roughened appearance. Besides the new arrivals, the entire command is being refitted and assembled on the south bank of the Yellowstone. The march will commence on the 7th.

General Terry, in an order dated July 26, expressed his thanks to Privates Jas. Bell, Wm. Evans and Benj. Stewart, of Company E, Seventh Infantry, for their bravery in taking dispatches to General Crook and returning. These men, among others, volunteered to go through the hostile Indian country when Indian scouts refused.

PLAIN SPEAKING.

Morton to the Citizens of Indiana.

His Arraignment of the Democratic Party and Leaders—Their Character and History—Importance of the "Hoosier" State Contest.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Aug. 11, 1876.

Senator Morton was to-night escorted by the Hayes' Guards in uniform from his hotel to the Academy of Music, where he delivered the opening speech of the campaign in this State before an immense audience. He was introduced by Hon. Albert G. Porter. Taking up Governor Tilden he applied the dissecting knife in this style:

"Governor Tilden is an inveterate bachelor of sixty-six, a life-long Democrat, and has been for twenty years a leader in his party and closely identified with all of its most infamous measures. Trained in a school of New York city politics, a graduate of Tammany Hall, a disciple of the revolution of '98, an ardent sympathizer with the rebellion, he completely filled that character known during the war as "The Copperhead." Mr. Kelly and other leading Democrats before the nomination, earnestly described Mr. Tilden as a railroad wrecker, a character well known in New York and London, who deals in broken down railroads and puts them on their feet again, in which process the original stock and bondholders lose their entire investment and the assets pass chiefly into the wrecker's hands. They described him as a lawyer who seldom appeared in court, and boldly affirmed that he had thus made a fortune of from six to ten millions of dollars. When ships are cast upon a rock-bound coast the wreckers come down upon them, often murdering the surviving mariners and always robbing them of every valuable thing.

"It is well known that John Morrissey, the prize fighter and world-renowned gambler, was Tilden's champion at St. Louis, and had more to do with his nomination than any other dozen men, and that Morrissey's gilded gambling hell was the Tilden headquarters at Saratoga last summer, and will be this."

Shameless Slanders.

Regarding the speech made by Tilden the night he was serenaded in honor of his nomination, when he said we are reaching the worst condition of the countries of the Old World, the speaker said: "The fact that a candidate for President should have made such a speech is the strongest evidence that can be produced of our political degradation. When he says that all business is ruined, that the wolf is at the door of nearly every house in the land, gaunt and hungry, and that our Centennial product is the evils, license, and wrongs to escape which our ancestry abandoned their homes in the Old World, he uttered slanders shameless and enormous."

Dodger Hendricks.

"Of Mr. Hendricks, the Democratic candidate for Vice President, it is not very important to speak in this community. You have known him as a member of Congress, of the Legislature, of the Constitutional Convention, as Commissioner of the General Land Office, as Senator of the United States, as Governor of the State, for nearly thirty years, and during all that time he has suggested no policy, produced no measure, started no idea which any human being can remember, save and except one which we are all asked to forget. His place of general retirement and relaxation has been upon the fence, and has never gotten down upon one side or the other until his party had taken such decided ground as left no doubt about their position. Like Tilden, he will be the last of the line, and will leave no idea, measure or policy as a contribution to those coming after him. His official life in small things has been respectable, and successful in dodging larger responsibilities.

The Opening Democratic Gun.

"The murder a few days since of ten negroes at Hamburg, South Carolina, under circumstances of extraordinary atrocity is but the opening of the Tilden campaign in that State. It was the beginning of the work of intimidation, a terrible blow to strike terror into the hearts of the colored people. Upon a very mean and scandalous pretext about three hundred white men suddenly assembled in this little town, inhabited almost exclusively by colored people, perpetrated the foul murders, sent the women and children to the woods in deadly fright, and searched and sacked their humble homes.

Evils of Democratic Origin.

"Amidst the clamor we hear on every side against an enormous debt, heavy taxes, the oppression of industry, and the deranged currency, it is well to remember that all these evils are of Democratic origin; that they have been created by Democratic crimes and blunders for which that party should be held responsible. The Democratic party made the rebellion, and the rebellion made the debt, heavy taxes, greenbacks and National banks a necessity; and if it is true, as we are constantly told, that public and private demoralization and a long train of evils are the inevitable consequences of a civil war, it is the very insolence of falsehood to hold the Republican party responsible for them.

Record of Honorable Deeds.

"The Republican party points with pride and satisfaction to its record of honorable deeds; to a Union preserved, slavery abolished, to the establishment of equality before the law, to a Government well administered, and to its principles replete with justice, humanity and the advancing civilization of the age. The Democratic party asking its past to be forgotten, with no argument in its favor to be drawn from history, comes in the mask of reform, professing superior purity, and relying only upon its general assault upon the integrity and patriotism of Republicans.

The Republican party have chosen as standard-bearers Messrs. Hayes and Wheeler. They are able and pure men and have always been on the right side of the great questions of the day. They have been true to their country, to liberty and to humanity, and their lives have been illustrated by distinguished services in the field, in the government of States and in the councils of the Nation.

A Brave Soldier.

Governor Hayes was a brave soldier, who commanded with distinction and fell upon the field severely wounded. His name has long been inscribed upon that roll of heroes who offered their lives that their country might live. As a pledge that his administration will be pure and beneficent, he presents an untarnished record, without blot or blunder, and as proof of his capacity shows that he has judged wisely on every occasion, in the field and in politics; and he stands in marked contrast to his competitor, who has been conspicuously wrong upon every great question which has agitated the country for a quarter of a century. If we are to judge of the comparative merits and fitness of these two men for the office of President by their past lives, there is no room left for doubt. The one always right and the other always wrong. One trained in correct principles that he is not required to unlearn. The other coming from a vocation and from life long associations that should excite the distrust and repugnance of the country.

The Indiana Contest.

In conclusion permit me to say that the approaching contest in Indiana will be watched with the deepest interest by the whole country. Indiana is one of the three States voting in October, and the result will exercise a powerful influence upon the election in November. In this point of view the importance of our success can hardly be overestimated, and no exertion ought to be spared to secure a legitimate triumph. The State ticket presented by the Republican party is a good one and deserves the confidence and support of all. Gen. Harrison, our candidate for Governor, needs no introduction or commendation in this community. His high character as a man, his distinguished services as a soldier in the field, his recognized ability as a lawyer, and his great experience as a public speaker qualify him in the highest degree to lead the Republican party to victory in this great struggle. A Democratic victory in October means a triumph of the Confederate Democracy in November, the subjection of the loyal element of the North to the rebel element of the South, and the installation at the national capitol of the very spirit and incarnation of the rebellion.

Unemployed Workingmen of New York.

NEW YORK, August 11.—Of 15,000 unemployed workingmen to parade yesterday and wait upon the Mayor and Board of Aldermen to demand relief from their present nesessities, only about seventy-five formed in line and marched to City Hall, where about 2,000 others soon gathered. In reply to an address of the workingmen, the Mayor said they had his hearty sympathy, but he had no power to give employment to any man.

Hendricks Keeping Shady.

PHILADELPHIA, August 11.—Governor Hendricks, of Indiana, who arrived here last evening, is keeping himself very much out of the way of all political and journalistic inquirers, and has thus far successfully eluded all interviewers. He started for the Centennial very early this morning, and no one seems to know what his plans and purposes are.

SHERMAN will not retire from the Generalship of the army, and the President says he could not succeed him in any event, as the office dies with SHERMAN.

DUST throwing has commenced quite early in the national canvass. The Democratic National Executive Committee reports that TILDEN will give them no money. The story is exceedingly thin. Were it true it would not be so prominently told.

THE fast mail service is to be restored, we judge, as certain amounts were included in the appropriation bill for this purpose. The theory of the Democrats that they could get this service without pay did not work, and they have made a virtue of necessity, and recognized the value of a system originated by a Republican administration.

IT MAY yet become a question whether scouts are just as important to the operations of our frontier forces as they have been supposed. It is more than suspected that false information derived from scouts led CUSTER to make his fatal charge. Of late, private soldiers have acted as couriers, passing through the most dangerous Indian country, to points where the regular scouts refused to go. Possibly in the art of tracking Indians the scouts may be of service, but where dangerous errands are to be undertaken, the soldiers are more trustworthy and successful. A decided reduction in the force of scouts might wisely be effected.

IF it proves true, as reported, that Russia and Germany have formed an offensive and defensive alliance, there is trouble for the Turks yet, and, if England interferes, for her as well. An alliance between Russia and Germany is in the natural order of things. Russia did Germany excellent service, in holding Austria in abeyance during the French war; and now that Russia thinks her time has come it is natural that Germany should stand by her. Besides, the sympathy of the German Government is with the Russians. To her the Turks are antagonistic, while the fact that the Pope of Rome, and the English Government favor the Mohammedan Empire does not commend it to the affections of the Germans. It is very probable that the Turkish war may assume large proportions yet.

IF the reports touching our local military at Philadelphia are true, there is more bad management at headquarters than is at all complimentary to those in command. We hope that much that is reported is entirely untrue; but certainly there are many disagreeable rumors in circulation. These apparently centre on the idea that officers and men are arrested for trivial and technical offenses, such as a prudent commanding officer would entirely overlook. A report was current yesterday that one regiment was directed to put another regiment under arrest. If this is so, it simply proves utter incompetency somewhere. The art of command involves that of controlling men without at all times employing brute force. There is a persuasive force in the absolute justice of a commander's demand; or in the manner of putting it, which will secure obedience, often when brute force would utterly fail. We hope the unpleasantness at Philadelphia may be happily disposed of.

THE doctrine of natural selection and the survival of the fittest has a new exemplification. It is said that statistics show pretty conclusively that vaccination is not now nearly so effectual to prevent smallpox as it was when it was first used for that purpose, and a distinguished English investigator tells us that the reason is not far to seek. Before vaccination came smallpox selected for its victims the persons who were most easily susceptible of taking the disease. Killing vast numbers of these, it left in the world the men and women who were best capable of resisting its attacks, and these men and women, generation after generation, transmitted to their posterity their power to resist smallpox or to live through its attacks. Under the law of natural selection the liability to this disease grew steadily less, and when vaccination was introduced among the fittest who had survived it was sufficient. It served also for a time to protect the weaker ones, who, without its aid, would have succumbed to the disease, and we have now a world full of people so liable to the disease that even vaccination is not sufficient to protect them any longer.

THE telegraph conveys intelligence of the continued investigation, in England, of the BRAVO mystery. This consists of the supposed murder, by poison, of a Mr. BRAVO, and it is supposed the murder was committed by his wife, in collusion with the family physician. The lady had been married once or twice previously, and her husbands died in due time, it is supposed, under the influence of poison. The theory of criminal connivance on the part of the physician rests on the theory of his guilty association with Mrs. BRAVO, and also on the fact that his footman purchased the poisonous material. The testimony as to the character of the deceased, and his relations with his wife was very confused and contradictory. Out of it all, the following points seem pretty definitely established: 1. That Captain RICARDO, the first husband of Mrs. BRAVO, after a life of hard drinking and a long separation from her, died suddenly; 2. Mrs. BRAVO was by her own admission and by the testimony of her nearest relatives very intimate with Dr. GULLY; 3. Mr. BRAVO also died suddenly, under circumstances which might justify a theory either of suicide or of felonious poisoning. Meanwhile, here are materials for half a dozen sensational novels, and we shall be very much surprised if Miss BRADDON does not improve the opportunity.

WE credit the New York Tribune with taking about as impartial a view of the Mississippi outrages as any journal we have seen. It has no faith in AMES, and thinks he represented the worst phase of carpet-bag government. We differ with it there, believing that AMES was weak, but not corrupt. Yet after making all allowances whatever, it is compelled to conclude that if it is gross partisanship to say that such deeds were perpetrated with deliberate purpose by the Democrats, it is also gross partisanship to say that Democratic citizens of Mississippi did what they could to prevent them. What was the result? In 1872 the Republicans had polled 81,916 votes. Last year they polled only 66,659 votes. When we reflect that the strongest possible appeals were made in 1872 and again in 1873 to the more intelligent Republicans to sweep away the misrule which oppressed the State, and that, nevertheless, 74,307 votes were cast for AMES in 1873, it is difficult to believe that a large number of them voluntarily deserted in 1875 the party to which they had steadily adhered. But it is not difficult to believe that thousands of timid and ignorant men were prevented from voting, or controlled in their votes, by such outrages as are known to have been committed. Democratic rule at the South does not mean such self-government as exists in Northern communities. If we are to maintain such self-government at all in the Southern States it must be by the election of a President who will neither shelter stealing nor tolerate killing—who will act in the spirit so well shown by the letter of Gov. Hayes, with equal justice toward all.

WE see it intimated that SCOTT LORD will be taught prudence by his party, in return for his little outburst the other day; or, what is more likely that he will be put on the political shelf, as a very useless kind of a Democrat. He allowed his human nature to obtain the mastery over his political prudence, forgetting that the instincts of rights do not always accord with the policy of the Democratic party. The idea of punishing good, faithful Democrats for killing a few negroes, or terrorizing by brutality and murder Republican whites is entirely out of all reason. The policy of the Democracy requires this. Governor TILDEN is a man of figures; and he has already ciphered out that he needs all the Southern States to make sure of his election. In order to secure these, there must be some harsh work, and a great General does not allow a few murders to stand in the way of his plans. Therefore it was necessary that the Hamburg massacre should occur, in order that the colored people of South Carolina should understand that they are not to put themselves in the way of the dominant race. Their work was done with a completeness that left nothing to be desired. Of course seeming denial of responsibility was necessary, but Mr. LORD mistook all this for reality. He imagined that Mr. LAMAR could not denounce that little circumstance so eloquently unless he meant it. Observing that LAMAR and others went no farther than mere talk, it occurred to him that he would just hit the nail on the head, by offering a resolution exactly embodying the pith of their eloquent speeches. Of course, his party friends would be delighted, and would uproarously adopt the resolution, and he would be the lion of the hour. He offered it, but alas, for buoyant human hopes. All his expectations were blasted, and he is accursed. A Southern murderer is, after all, the pet of the party, and a real Northern reformer is driven out.

TURKISH SUPPORTERS.

Considerable interest begins to be manifested in England in behalf of the Government assuming an attitude on the Turkish question in accord with the moral sentiment of the people. The atrocities perpetrated on the people of Bulgaria are so terrible, and the excuse so flimsy, that it is a mystery to the better classes in England that a Christian Government should sustain a barbarous Mohammedan power in wreaking bloody vengeance on the Christian portion of its subjects. Strangely the Vatican and even the Italian Government are in accord with the English Government on this question. These strange facts are accounted for by the singular circumstance, that on the downfall of the Pope's political power, the investments of surplus funds, amounting to a large sum, were made in Turkish securities. It is well known that this is the ruling influence with England. A large amount of English capital went into Turkish loans, and now the Government protects its protege, in order to save its money. It is not a new thing for the English Government to be controlled in its public policy by low and sordid motives; but it is singular to see the head of the Roman Catholic Church affiliating with the chief Mohammedan power, as against Christians of the Greek Church, because it has a large amount invested in Turkish securities. Yet such is the affirmation reliably made.

The moral sentiment and sympathy of the world are against not merely the Turks, but all their supporters, at this time. Were Russia, under these circumstances, to join forces with the oppressed Servians, she would have the moral support of Germany, and possibly, in an emergency, her active military aid, while she would have against her England, possibly Austria, and Italy. The Sclavic element in the Austrian Empire would compel that power to confine itself to securing the safety of such of the Sclavic provinces as lie on her border, as against absorption by either Turkey or Russia, but need not compel her to conflict of arms, as against Russia direct. Italy will do nothing, whatever her sympathies, unless Germany consents. France is outside this conflict. England might secure Constantinople, and Turkish seaport towns, but in land battles she would not prove of serious importance. It will not contribute to the advantage of England to carry her support of the Turks to the limit of military or naval aid. It is, therefore, Russia's opportunity; and the outlook of the last few days is, that her authorities are strongly inclined to take active measures in behalf of the harassed Principalities. The next ten days may develop very startling movements, ominous of danger to the powers that would sustain for money, a barbarous power like that of the Turks.

COMMITTEE REPORTS.

As the last days of the session of Congress pass by, the several committees are improving the time in making their reports. Usually we have a majority and minority report in each case, the House adopting the reports of its friends, and the Senate favoring the views of its majority. The presumption growing out of these facts is, that there is more or less of partisanship in the several reports, and that we can only determine which is justified by careful examination of the evidence. The fact that such differences exists, tends to neutralize the value of such reports, and to throw a cloud of suspicion over them all. The outcome is that the people will accept all these reports with many grains of allowance, and view all subjects treated in the light of any clearly defined evidence that may secure. Such is the situation, as respects the bearing of these reports on the political canvass. The Democracy have involved investigation and reports, as a feature of their stock in trade, but we greatly err if they have not been worsted at it. In their investigation of Republican officials, the evidence has usually fallen far behind the claims of the report. Not only so, but the statements made in the reports are tinged with a spirit of partisan bigotry and bitterness, as though such a spirit would affect the views of the people, or control them in their estimate of the facts involved. If they influence the people at all, it was more in the line of antagonism than else, and hence of no value whatever to the cause sought to be benefitted.

There is, however, a lesson in these reports that ought not to be overlooked by the people at large. They reflect the relative fairness of the two parties. It is fair to infer that if one political party will deliberately falsify facts, under circumstances that have around them the solemnity of an oath, they will not hesitate, if entrusted with power, to violate the moral law in other particulars if party policy shall require it. The only instance in which a charge of unfairness has been brought against a Republican report, is in that of BOUTWELL. It is claimed that AMES recognized the legality of the election which BOUTWELL declares illegal, and that at the most, there was a quorum legally chosen, and they could decide the legality of the rest. Whatever Governor AMES may or may not have done, the evidence is adduced in the report to show that enough members were illegally elected to give the Democrats a working majority in the Legislature. We never heard that there was the slightest opportunity given those who were legally elected to pass upon the cases of the others. Moreover, the terrorisms were practiced in Republican counties, and not where the Democrats had their strongholds. Thus the facts justify the conclusions of the BOUTWELL report, to the best of our belief. On the other hand, BAYARD is compelled to rest his minority report on a disbelief of certain testimony. The Democratic reports are really violent and baseless assaults on the Republican party, or some of its prominent leaders. The Louisiana report, especially, has been avowedly made stronger than the facts would warrant, to offset the Hamburg affair. We simply submit whether such a party is to be trusted at all.

NASBY.

Mr. Nasby Waits for the Letters of Tilden and Hendricks—He Becomes a Burden to Bascom—His Final Instructions.

CONFEDRIT X ROADS,
WICH IS IN THE STATE UV KENTUCKY,
August 7th, 1876.

There wuz wunst a doctor wich hed a bark wich wood either physic or puke, accordin ez he stript off the tree up or down.

Like to this doctor is Tilden and Hendrix. Reed ther letters up and they are hard money physic—reed em down and they are soft money vomick.

The day I got back from the St. Loois Convenshun I commenst preparin for a stumping toor for our gallent standard-barers. I borrowed an extra shirt, so that I cood hev one; I borrowed a valise to kerry it in when I wuzn't speakin, and also to give me standin at sich hotels, ez the Committee didn't become responsible for my board, and Bascom completed my travelin outfit by contributin a quart bottle uv the newest, to be kerried in the valise to be yoosed when in lokalities where the nessaries uv life wuz hard to come at.

Ez I coodent go out instructin uv the people till I knowd wat my candidates bleeved in, I decided to wait till I got their letters uv acceptance. Did that likker stay in the valise? Not any. It wuz all gone the fust day, and I went to Bascom with the empty bottle the next mornin.

"Fill it up, G. W.," sed I. "I cant go till I hev seen them letters."

"When will you come?" askt he.

"To-day or to morrow," sed I.

"Yoo shood hev kept wat yoo hed till the letters come," sed he.

"Bascom," wuz the response, "likker like yours cannot be kept."

And then seein trouble ahead, I continyood:

"Promise me that yoo will keep this bottle filled till them letters come. It will be but a little while, and remember, Bascom, yoo got the four hundred dollars that Tilden, the Reformer, paid for my vote at St. Loois."

"I promise!" he groaned.

"And likewise, until I hev read em and understood em, so that I shel not go out and spout false Dimocrisy."

"I promise!" he groaned agin.

Day after day passed, but no letters came. But promptly every mornin I wuz at Bascom's with the bottle, which he groaningly filled. On the thirtieth day he refoosed pint blank.

"G. W." sed I, sternly, "remember yoor promise. I may be called any minit: It wuz the foolish virgins wat hed no ile in their lamps. I am no foolish virgin. Fill up the lamp for I may be called to-nite."

And he filled it, becoz he hed promised. But every mornin he wood lift up his voice ez I come in, and howl, "Grashus hevens! ain't them letters never comin to releeve me uv this incubus?"

At last one mornin the letters come, in the Looisville papers, and Bascom come over to me happy, ez though a great wait had bin lifted off him.

"I fill the bottle for the last time," sed he gaily, "for lo! here be the letters."

I took the papers and red the letters, and the next mornin wuz promptly at hiz bar with the bottle.

"Fill it," I remarked calmly.

"Not any," sed he. "Yoo have the letters."

"George Washington B." I replied, "yoor promise wuz to keep this bottle filled not only until I hed red the letters, but TILL I UNDERSTOOD EM. I hev bin applyin my intelek to em for ten hours, and ef I know from them letters whether I am to talk Hard money or Soft, Immejite Resumpshen or Perpetooal Postponement, I hope never to be Postmaster."

* * * * * * *

Wat did that perfijus wretch do? He telegraphed that very day to both Tilden and Hendrix, ez follows:

"Shel Nasby on the stump, advocate Hard money. Anser at wunst. Important, to save an innocent Dimocrat from rooin."

And the ansers came prompt from Tilden:

"Hard money, uv course, but soften it a good deal in the West. Strike boldly, however, for Reform, and agin the Corrupshun uv the Republikin party.
TILDEN."

FROM HENDRIX.

"Soft money, uv course, but harden it a good deal in the East. Strike boldly, however, for Reform, and agin the Corrupshen of the Republikin party.
HENDRIX."

And so, hevin my instrukshens, I hed to go. I shel, however, before I speek, get instrukshens from John Morrissey and Fernandy Wood, ez to the best methods uv bringin about Reform, and uv fightin corrupshen in governmental matters.

PETROLEUM V. NASBY,
(Which wants to be Postmaster.)

POLITICAL NOTES.

THE more Gov. Tilden's letter is read the less it is liked.

THE "Democratic lead pencil" is a new invention—one end soft, the other hard.

MR. BRISTOW will not begin his canvass in Vermont until about the middle of next week.

THE independent voter is not tearing his raiment in his haste to get over to the Democratic side.

VICKSBURG has prospered so under a Democratic administration that it is now unable to light the street lamps.

"O, CAREY me back," said Uncle Peter Cooper, when he heard that William Allen's man was to be vice on his ticket.

TILDEN is the first candidate for President who has ever appeared in a court of justice on a charge of swindling. And this charge was brought long enough before he was nominated, too.

DEMOCRATIC rule in the city of New York has increased the debt of that city $60,000,000 in ten years. Republican rule in the nation has decreased the public debt over $600,000,000 in ten years!

AS SOON as he can get some one-eyed plaster of Paris, a Virgin alley Italian image vendor intends to change all his "Praying Samuels" into figures of "Tilden at the door of the White House."

HENDRICKS has no political convictions. He is simply a slippery politician, hankering after place and power, and mouthing the set terms in vogue with sham reformers the world over and through all time.

TILDEN says he did not write the confidential letter which was sent to every county committee in New York, directing advance returns of votes to be sent to William M. Tweed, and he now challenges Horace Greeley to prove it.

HARRISON—HENDRICKS—each a fitting representative of his party,—the one bold and outspoken, the other cunning and deceptive; the former a statesman, the latter a demagogue; Harrison loyal and true to his country, Hendricks disloyal, seeking the dissolution of the Union and a compromise with its enemies, the General clear and explicit in defining his position, the Senator dissimulating and obscure, like Talleyrand, believing language to be the means by which to disguise one's thoughts.

A BOGUS IRON FOUNDER.

Alleged Extensive Embezzlement—His Arrest To-day.

Colonel Henry R. Cook, principal proprietor of the iron foundry at the foot of Essex street, Jersey City, was arrested this forenoon by Captain McKague, of the First Precinct, on a requisition from Governor Hartranft, of Pennsylvania, on indictments for embezzling a large amount. Lee Cunningham, the Pennsylvania officer who held the requisition, stated that some months since Colonel Cook came to Beaver county, where he erected a furnace for the manufacture of steel, and proceeded to organize a stock company for the purpose of carrying on an extensive business. Many persons in that locality invested in the stock, as it promised to pay largely. It is alleged that, after securing some thousands of dollars, the Colonel decamped, and they have since learned that he came to Jersey City and commenced operations again. The furnace in Jersey City was only fairly under way, when it was burned down a few weeks ago, and has only recently been rebuilt. The prisoner left in charge of the officer for Pennsylvania on the eleven o'clock train.—N. Y. Advertiser.

THE SILVER CONTROVERSY.

Letter from Thurlow Weed—The Value of Silver Coin Fixed by Congress—The Present Trouble the Result of the Silver Act of 1873—A Repeal of that Act Advocated.

To the Editor of the Tribune:

SIR: My last letter to the Tribune closed with an expression of satisfaction that one leading journal recognized "two sides of the silver question." I have now to regret that the discussion and development, though so full and clear as to satisfy the average mind, do not change or modify the views of leading republican journals. I regret this the more because these journals are likely to prevent the Republican members of Congress from exerting themselves in favor of the repeal of the law of 1873, a law which deprives the Government of its right to pay its creditors in coin.

The letter of your Washington correspondent, who is entitled to great credit for the valuable information he has obtained and for the clear and forcible conclusions he has drawn from his researches, supplemented by an equally interesting and able letter written by a gentleman of San Francisco to Gov. Dix, cannot fail to clear away the mist and correct the errors which darken the popular mind in regard to one of the two metals recognized in the Constitution of the United States, and until 1873 regarded as equally precious. The recent discussion of the silver question confirms and strengthens the essential points raised in my letter. It is nowhere denied that, until the act of 1873, silver, equally with gold, was a legal tender, and that the laws authorizing the Treasury Department to borrow $3,000,000,000 pledged the faith of the Government for the repayment of the interest and principal of its bonds in gold or silver coin. But for the ill-advised action of Congress in 1873 no collision of opinion would or could have arisen. All that remains, therefore, for consideration is how the act of 1873 affects the interests of our people and the welfare of our country. The effect, if not the object, of that act was to depreciate silver and appreciate gold. The usance on gold consequently has been obstinately maintained, and, as a corollary, demonetized silver suffers a corresponding depreciation in value. What then would be the effect of the repeal of the law of 1873? Would not the price of gold go down and that of silver come up until, as formerly, their relative values approximated?

It will be urged that the silver dollar is not equal in value to the gold dollar. The answer is that Congress is directed by the Constitution of the United States to fix and regulate the value of both metals, neither being a legal tender without such regulation. There is more than poetic truth in the following suggestive extract from Burns:

> "The rank is but the guinea's stamp,
> The man's the gowd for a' that."

Without the stamp, silver and gold would take their places with baser metals selling in the market for what they were practically worth. Their extrinsic value is imparted by the Government stamp. I have deplored, in common with other citizens, the lack of statesmanship at Washington. With truly enlightened and patriotic men in Congress, the law of 1873, depriving the people and the country of one of their two legal-tender coinages, would have found little favor in either House of Congress. But unhappily Webster, Clay, Seward, Mangum, Diisha, Whittlesey, John Sergeant, Marcy, Wright, &c., &c., have departed, leaving no successors equal to an emergency which the rebellion occasioned. Hence the passage of a law which now causes general surprise, and will, when its malign influences are better understood, excite general indignation. For when it comes to be well understood that by striking silver out of the legal tender currency a disastrous blow was struck at the industries of the country, so great a wrong will not be patiently endured. Congress is supposed to represent the interests of the whole people; but in making gold, and gold only, a legal tender, the interest of a small class only was consulted. The premium on gold is perpetuated by a law of Congress, while these premiums are squeezed, drop by drop, from the brow of labor. Now I take leave to ask Representatives and Senators how long in their judgment this sweating process in favor of capital and against labor can be practiced with impunity? The citizens of the Western States demand a repeal of the wrong law. They oppose resumption, under the erroneous impression that it necessarily aggravates the evils from which we are all suffering. The real difficulty is that Congress has required resumption in 1879, without having taken any step to facilitate or aid resumption. Nor is the "masterly inactivity" of Congress its gravest fault. The act of 1873, demonetizing silver, renders it impossible to resume without greatly increasing the burdens, losses, and sufferings of the commercial, manufacturing and laboring classes. Meanwhile, the bondholders and foreigners from whom we purchase luxuries profit largely.

If those who urged the repeal of the Resumption act had been wise enough to see that their interests would have been better served by a repeal of the act of 1873, that repeal would have been accomplished, and we should have soon found ourselves upon a broad avenue with an open silver gate leading to resumption and prosperity.

LES COURSES.

A New Way to Lose Money—An Ingenious Game Introduced by a Frenchman.

About three weeks ago a Frenchman, recently arrived in this country from Paris, introduced in New York City a gambling game hitherto unknown there, but which has long been played in the French capital. It is called "Les Courses," and is intended to represent a race course and draw out the enthusiasm for betting which is seen on a real race course. The Frenchman has had one table constructed at a cost of $1,500. It is a square table of oak, about four and a half feet from the ground, and six and a half feet square. It is elegantly finished, and is a handsome specimen of cabinet work. On the top of this table are eight concentric circular grooves, in each of which is a metal horse, supported on a metal road, each horse having a richly dressed jockey. At four places in each circle is a bronze arch which represents a quarter or half-mile post.

To each of the horses is given a name, after famous racers. Pools are sold on each of the horses, as for a real race, and tickets are given to the purchasers, the money received being placed upon a receptacle in the centre of the table, covered with green cloth and supported on four posts. The bets having been completed, by the touching of a lever the horses are brought to the score, after which a crank is slowly turned, which sets them in motion, and they start off neck and neck.

The crank is gradually turned faster and faster, and with the increased motion of the crank, the speed of the horses is also increased. The crank is then removed, but the horses continue in motion, and by the aid of some ingenious machinery in the body of the table, pass each other, fall behind, catch up, and simulate exactly the performances at a real race. Sometimes they arrive at the goal neck and neck, and again, as is not infrequent in actual life, the favorite comes in last.

The whole game is remarkably ingenious, being exciting, and said to be fairly conducted, while the facilities for losing money at it are as great as those enjoyed at Jerome Park, Long Branch, or Saratoga.

Celestial Temper.

Even among the Celestials, incompatibility of temper is the mainspring of domestic misery. A clever young Chinese lady married a youth who was no match for her accomplishments, and too lazy withal to make his own living. One night he went home after a day of "genteel loafing" to hear his wife remark quite sharply that she had neither any rice in the house nor money enough to buy any. "Never mind," he replied very meekly, "I'll go out and borrow enough for supper." He came back and his wife got supper rather sullenly; but when it was ready she could not find her husband. Hour after hour passed, and there were no signs of him. She began to cry, and her howls reached the ears of an old woman who lived hard by. When she told her trouble the crone began to howl in concert, and their lamentations roused the neighborhood. Three days afterward, an uncle of the afflicted lady, hearing of his niece's trouble, came in, and suggested that the house be searched. And there, hanging from a nail in the wall, was the miserable husband. The wife in agony of self-reproach rushed out of the house and jumped into the river, but was saved, and is now dragging out of her widowhood. The Celestial Empire tells this moving tale, but does not venture to point the moral.

Took Him for a Burglar.

Night before last a South Hill man got up about three o'clock, to see if the back door was locked, and as he returned to the couch he had so lately left he inadvertently struck a chair. He never would have complained of the abrasion on his shin, if his wife hadn't jumped out of bed, under the impression that he was a burglar, and clubbed him all over the room with a rolling-pin which she had hid under the pillow.

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
SATURDAY, August 12, 1876.

The steady reign of dullness continues, the banks not seeking to force the investment of surplus means. Quiet reigns in monetary circles, generally, although business has spurts of activity that are really encouraging. We are really in the intermediate position between summer and fall, and this has its influence on monetary institutions. The bank have little employment for their funds in the present intermediate condition of business. It is too early as yet for the fall trade to open, and the summer business has subsided to the lowest point. The demand from the country for advances to carry produce and stock continues in the shape of rediscounts. In the city a large amount of maturing paper is met by giving other paper instead of cash, the makers finding it easier to pay interest than to realize the principal out of their sales or collections. The general supply of paper is light in other directions. Deposits are drawn down considerably.

—Apropos of the current silver discussion, there are some interesting facts pertaining to the early coinage of the country: Of the gold coinage of 1804, about $11,000 was the produce of virgin gold from Cabarras county, N. C., and from that time to 1827 all the gold in this country was obtained from that State, amounting to $110,000. The gold mines in Rowan county were, at one time, "the richest in the Atlantic States," and yielded about $200,000 annually. A bar of silver from one of the mines in Davidson county, N. C., in the New York exhibition, in 1853-4, is said to have been the first smelted from the ores in the United States. "The copious yield of gold" by the mines of the Southern States induced Congress, in 1838, to establish three mints, one at Charlotte, N. C., one at Dahlonega, Ga., and one at New Orleans, the first two to be for coin only. The dies for the first coinage of money in this country were made by a Massachusetts mechanic, in 1652, and the money was coined by John Hull, on whose estate the "Mint Hawse" stood, and Robert Sanderson, of Boston.

—The French, who are the most successful financiers in the world, procure a wonderful popularity for their loans merely by common sense management. The bonds are made so small in amount that the poor can invest in them instead of in savings banks. The French do not refuse, as the United States Treasury does, to receive bids of less than half a million dollars. The loan is offered directly to the people. As a result, the loans are eagerly sought for, and those who have seen the populace pressing forward to offer their money to the city of Paris describe it as a most extraordinary spectacle. Rag-pickers, hotel and cafe waiters, domestic servants, nurses, clerks, representatives of every class and occupation, take their places in the long lines to await their turn to subscribe for a bond.

—A notable New York failure this week is that of Max Stadler & Co. The firm was organized only in January last, when Mr. Max Stadler left the firm of Stadler & Co., wholesale dealers in clothing, at the corner of Church and White streets, refusing, it is said, a yearly compensation of $30,000 for the mere use of his name. He withdrew from the funds of that firm over $200,000, and leased the present building, paying $25,000 per year rental. An immense stock of goods were purchased at high prices, among which were vast quantities of heavy woolens for the fall trade. Thirty thousand dollars was spent in fitting up the store, and the running expenses were $100,000 per year for clerk hire, etc. The assignee estimates the liabilities of the firm at between $400,000 and $500,000.

—The San Francisco Mint resumed operations on the 7th of July, and the outturn for the month was $4,606,000, the largest amount ever coined in a single month at that or any other Mint in the United States. The nearest approach to it was in August, 1875, when $4,510,000 was coined. But that amount was for a full month, against only three weeks' work last month. In August, 1874, the coinage was also unusually large, amounting to $4,320,000; and again in December of the same year the total was $4,087,000. These are the largest outturns in the history of the Mint.

Condition of the Markets at Home and Abroad.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
FRIDAY, August 11, 1876.

There is no improvement to note in grain or flour circles, but it is hoped that there soon will be. our merchants nearly all complain that they never experienced such a long continued siege of depression. For Sugars there is a steady demand, but all other articles in the grocery line continue dull. Provisions easier but unchanged. Produce of all kinds continues dull, and the fruit trade has not improved in the slightest; commission merchants report that they are scarcely able to realize enough to pay cost of transportation and commissions.

APPLES—The market is overstocked and dull, and prices are weak and lower, ranging from 50 to $1,50 ℔ bbl. as to quality and condition.

BERRIES—Continue very dull and buyers have the advantage; Black-berries and Whortle-berries sold to-day at 50a75c ℔ bucket.

BUTTER—The market is very generally reported dull, and excepting for something really fine, prices are weak; sales of prime to choice solid packed at 17a20c.

CHEESE—There is a fair local trade, and notwithstanding the unfavorable reports from New York, prices are maintained. Prime Ohio Factory, 8c to the trade, and 9c in a jobbing way.

DRIED FRUIT—There is nothing doing, and being out of season we omit quotations.

EGGS—The supply of fresh stock, guaranteed as such, is small, although fully up to the demand; stale stock in large supply and holders are working it off as best they can; fresh receipts are still held at 11a12c.

FLOUR—Continues quiet and unchanged. We repeat former quotations: Spring wheat flours, $5,75a6,25, the outside figure for choice Minnesota; red winters, $6a6,50; ambers, $7a7,50; patent process and fancy white wheat, $8,50a9,50. Rye Flour, $4,50a4,75.

GRAIN—There is no improvement to report in the Grain business, but it is hoped that there soon will be. Wheat continues quiet, and prices are weak but unchanged; No. 1 red, $1,10a1,15, No. 1 amber, $1,20,1,25. Millers are bearish. The Oat market continues dull but prices are maintained, ranging from 30a33c for new and old. We have heard of no offers to sell new below 30c. Corn continues neglected, but it is in light supply, Shelled quotable at 55a57c and Ear at 54a56. Rye quiet at 63a65c. No movement in Barley as yet.

GROCERIES—There is a steady demand for Sugars, and some well informed operaters predict that prices will rule higher before the close of the fruit season, the last of September. Coffee continues dull and weak. New Orleans Molasses is in fair demand and with a light supply prices are firm. Refining Molasses active and firm in the seaboard markets.

This offer is made on the basis of $5 40 a5,50 for hogs at the opening of the packing season there.

THE IRON TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
FRIDAY, August 11, 1876.

Pittsburgh.

PIG IRON—There is some inquiry, and a fair volume of business in the aggregate, but the demand is restricted almost entirely to small lots, which develops the fact that consumers generally are not disposed to carry more stock of the raw article than is necessary to supply their immediate wants. The tone of the market is steady; in view of the reduced supply and light production, there is no disposition to make concessions in order to effect sales, and holders generally are hopeful of being able to obtain better prices before long. It appears to be very generally conceded that hard pan has been touched; also that after making due allowance for reduced cost of production, there is little or no margin for profit even at current rates. The stock of all grades of raw iron here, in Pittsburgh, in yards of commission merchants, and sales as well, is down lower now than it has been for several years, and this, as already intimated, is favorable to the seller.

Following sales were reported:

MANUFACTURED IRON—The regular monthly meeting of the Western Iron Association took place here this week, but, so far as we have been able to learn, nothing of interest to the general public was transacted. These meetings are private, no one admitted excepting members, hence the press have to gather their information outside, and the members, as a rule, are not very free in imparting the particulars of their meetings to the newspapers. Business is generally reported dull; there is a very fair demand for sheet and hoop iron, as well as some leading specialties, but very few of the mills are working more than single turn, and some not even at that.

P. S.—It was rumored this afternoon, that some of the members of the Iron Association, at the session to-day, wanted to have a two cent card adopted. A further reduction is probable, but what the base will be, we are unable at this writing to state.

NAILS—The Nail trade continues dull; as it nearly always is at this particular time, and it is not likely that there will be much if any improvement before next month. Prices unchanged: $2,85, 60 days, for less than 200 kegs, and $2,75, 60 days, for orders of 200 kegs and upwards. There was a regular meeting of the Association here this week.

HORSE AND MULE SHOES—There is a fair business, but no change in prices. Shoenberger & Co. quote Horse Shoes at 4½c ℔ lb. cash, and 5½c, cash, for Mule Shoes.

THE ENGLISH IRON TRADE.

The English iron trade (says the New York Bulletin) appears to be in a worse condition than ever, the cable announcing almost every day for a week past the failure of some prominent house connected with it. The great iron ship-building interest is also sharing the depression, and the outlook for the future is aught but encouraging. The French iron trade is also reported to be in pretty much the same condition, and from Belgium the accounts are but little better. The trade on this side is not in a position just now to be affected by this condition of the European markets one way or another. Business with us is certainly very unsatisfactory; but, in the light of these reports, it is something to know that it is no worse than it is in other great iron-producing countries.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
FRIDAY August 12, 1876.

The Crude market was again easier to-day, and prices, as compared with yesterday, were lower. United certificates were offered this afternoon at $2.40 and immediate shipment at $2,62½. No cause assigned for this last reaction, but it is supposed that the bears have had something to do with it, as it is to their interest to get the market down and, if possible, to keep it down. Refined on the other hand was reported firm but quiet; Philadelphia delivery, 17⅜a17½; Baltimore, 17¼a17⅜; on cars here, 14⅝a14½.

Oil Barrels continue weak but unchanged; countries, $1,35; city make, $1,50a1,55, as to size.

The Canada Barley Situation.

Messrs. A. Miller & Co. furnish us the following recent circular, from one of their Canada correspondents. It shows that, notwithstanding about the same amount has been planted, untoward weatherly attendants have largely reduced the general average, and expectations of future yield are not particularly hopeful:

Our farmers had decided to reduce the acreage of barley last spring, and planted about two-thirds of what was sown in 1875, but heavy rains having set in and continued until too late to plant spring wheat with safety, they were obliged to increase the acreage of barley, and we had, therefore, about the same area planted as last year.

We experienced splendid growing weather until about the middle of June, when hot, dry weather followed, hardening the heavy clay lands, checking the growth and causing the heads to form on short straw. On light soil the barley grew very luxuriant, almost rank, so that when the extremely and continued hot weather followed, the heads formed and ripened too rapidly, thus causing the berry to be light in weight and the yield very deficient.

We are sorry to report that the early sown barley will be thin, not weighing over 46 lbs to the bushel. The late sown grain will be plumper.

The yield per acre will be fully one-third less than last year. Some reports from threshing-machine men report a deficiency of one-half, but this can be more accurately determined when the threshing has become more general.—St. Louis Globe.

RIVER NEWS.

State of the Rivers, Movements of Steamboats, &c.

THE water in the river has got down so low that navigation is virtually suspended. Weather cloudy and warm with indications of rain. Heavy rains west of here yesterday morning.

Two inches and stationary at Oil City.

THE Barnard has arrived at Wheeling and laid up.

THE little Scout, from Wheeling, arrived and departed.

THE Arlington is advertised to leave Cincinnati for New Orleans to-day.

JAMES SAYERS, passenger agent at Memphis, is quite ill at his residence in that city.

MR WM. SHAW, an old Pittsburgher, is one of the editors and proprietors of the Louisville Ledger.

CAPT COLLINS will soon be in the Lawrenceburg, Aurora and Rising Sun trade, with his new steamer Business.

CAPT. HARRISON BLASDELL, an old Arkansas river commander, but at present a planter near Pine Bluff, is visiting Memphis.

THE new Louis A. Sherley made the run from Lawrenceburg to Cincinnati, twenty-two miles, Tuesday night, in 2 hours and 35 minutes.

THE David Sinton, with sufficient coal aboard to run her 200 miles, only draws 10 inches. Her depth of hold 2½ feet, upon which she will carry 200 tons.

MR. B. D. MOORE, the barrel dealer, is apprehensive if the navigation continues suspended long, that there will be a "corner" in the barrel market.

THE Fontenelle is reported as having passed Rochester before dark on Thursday; if so, she could not have had much trouble. Marsh Hays and Wm. Williamson are her pilots.

SINCE the Chas. Morgan came out she has made twenty-three trips to New Orleans and return, and her passenger receipts have aggregated $65,645.70, an average of $2,854 per trip.

WHARFAGE collections at Portsmouth in the month of July amounted to $420,50. The Tribune says that "if it wasn't for the wharf fund the city would probably be compelled to shut up shop."

THE new R. E. Lee has moved to the Bull's Head, where she will receive the finishing touches necessary to her completion. She will leave New Orleans next Tuesday, on her first trip to Vicksburg.

WE learn that a boat received a number of barrels at Cincinnati for Pittsburgh; the water being low she reshipped at Bellaire by rail. The rate through from Cincinnati was 10cts., and of this she paid the railroad 9c, so that she realized one cent ℔ bbl. for carrying them from Cincinnati to Bellaire. It is well said that railroad corporations have no souls.

THE Memphis Avalanche gives the following: If steamboatmen and all those interested in the marine business, will examine the United States laws, they will find that cities charging a tax for wharfage become wharfingers, and are, therefore, liable for all damages to goods that may be allowed to lie on the wharf until removed by the consignee.

MESSRS. Ford and Rodgers, Assistant Local Inspectors for the District of Gallipolis, O., for the week ending Aug. 5, 1876, inspected the Katydid. Test pressure, 185 pounds to the square inch; steam pressure allowed, 135 pounds to the square inch. They also issued the following licenses: Chas. H. Lanhorn, of Ironton, second engineer; Samuel Devinney, of Pomeroy, first engineer; Jas. Davis, of Gallipolis, first engineer.

THE Maysville Republican says that the Bonanza has been credited with better running time than she ever made between Cincinnati and New Richmond. The correct time of the respective boats between these points is as follows: Bostona, 1:35; Fleetwood, 1:38; Bonanza, 1:46. It should be remembered that while the Bostona and Fleetwood make but one landing between here and Maysville, the Bonanza does a regular packet way business.

Drs. Jordan and Davieson

Principals of the Institution of Anatomy, 807 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, Lecturers on Anatomy, Physiology and Science, inform their friends and patients that they have again opened a branch office for the practice of their profession at No. 2 EIGHTH STREET, PITTSBURGH, PA., where one of the firm may be confidentially consulted, more especially in all those cases of diseases and debility, for the treatment of which they are so justly celebrated. It is too well known that hundreds, nay thousands suffer from the effects of early indiscretion and seek in vain for relief, for none but the educated physician who has made these subjects a specialty is likely to succeed in restoring the patient to health and strength. To all such Drs. Jordan and Davieson offer certain and speedy relief, and undertake no cases but those in which they are able to guarantee a safe, certain and permanent cure. Their important Medical Work may be had from their office, No. 2 Eighth street, on receipt of 25 cents, and also as usual from their head establishment, 1625 Filbert street, Philadelphia. Hours of consultation from 10 A. M. to 2 P. M., and from 5 P. M. to 8 P. M. Sundays from 10 A. M. to 2 P. M. Every case is strictly confidential. d&S

Iron Association.

At the morning session of the Western Iron Association yesterday, which is meeting in this city, a resolution to establish a two cent card, with an amendment to make it 2:15 was presented for discussion, and occupied almost the entire day. The object of these meetings is to discuss the present status of the trade and to establish a uniform card rate for merchant iron.

WHO IS HE?

A Wild Man in Clarion County.

The people of Madison township, Clarion county are considerably excited over the discovery of a man, who for some time past has been roving through the woods along Catfish river in a perfect state of nudity. He has been seen by a number of persons, but none of them have been able to get him to give any account of himself, as he is not disposed to a communication. He is described as a medium aged man slightly built, and his skin is a dark copper color. He was first seen some two weeks since, and a number of persons have seen him since that time. As he does not leave the woods, he must subsist entirely upon berries, roots, &c. Those who have seen him are unable to say whether he is sane or not, as he would not converse with them. It is thought by many of the more timid inhabitants that he is a stray Sioux who has wandered away from his tribe, while others are of the opinion that he is an escaped criminal.

A TERRIFIC EXPLOSION.

Bursting of a Boiler on the Hempfield Farm.

The Parker City Daily says: On Tuesday evening about seven o'clock a terrific boiler explosion occurred at McKinney Bros. well, No. 4, Hempfield farm, just below town. The report was tremendous, startling the entire community. There were two boilers in the boiler house, both of which were considered perfectly safe. Fortunately the pumper, Mr. Davis, was in the engine house, a short distance from the boiler, when the explosion occurred. He says there was but eighty pounds of steam on the exploded boiler, but be this as it may, there was force enough to rend the strong iron asunder, throwing the dome a distance of 600 feet, and pieces of the iron and flues were thrown over two thousand feet. No one was injured, which is truly miraculous, as Mr. Davis had just left the boiler house a few minutes before the explosion. Mr. Ford, the company's superintendent, in his usual energetic manner, went to work at once removing the debris, and by four o'clock A. M. had everything in running order.

A PHYSICIAN'S TROUBLES.

A Horse Race and its Results.

Several weeks ago a physician residing in Perrysville, purchased a horse, which had the reputation of being rather faster than ordinary nags. A few days afterward a butcher residing in Allegheny who claims the ownership of a fast trotting horse, heard of the physician's purchase, and he pested off to see the doctor to test the speed of the two animals together. The doctor declined entering into the arrangement at all until the butcher offered to bet $100 that his horse was the faster of the two. The doctor then gave way and they both placed checks for $100 in the hands of a third party. The race took place and the doctor's horse came in ahead of the butcher's nag, and the stake-holder handed over both the checks to the doctor. The latter felt quite elated at the result of the race until a slight cloud arising therefrom darkened his horizon. He is a member of a Presbyterian church and the members now threaten to have him expelled for betting on horse races. In addition to this trouble the butcher has notified the bank not to pay his check held by the doctor as he believed that the race was not a fair one. The doctor now fully appreciates the enormity of his sin—especially since the payment of the check has been stopped.

MYSTERIOUS.

A Young Man Supposed to Have Been Killed — The Whereabouts of His Body Unknown.

The little village of Harmersville, on the West Penn railroad on Thursday last was thrown into a state of intense excitement on account of the disappearance of a young man named James Neff, a son of a well-to-do farmer, who resides about a mile and a half from the village. It appears that young Neff left his father's house in a sulky and drove towards Harmersville on Wednesday evening, and after remaining there for some time he started for home, when he was met by a party of young men on the road, with one of whom he had traded horses a short time before. The latter approached him and asked him to return his horse, which Neff, it is said, refused to do, whereupon one of the party named Bennett or Bennett pulled the bridle from the horse's head. This frightened the animal which dashed away. Nothing was heard or seen of Neff that night, and on Thursday morning a party started in search of him. They discovered the vehicle was broken to pieces, parts of which were found along the road for nearly a mile. Blood was found on several trees, while portions of hair, which looked as if they had been torn violently from the scalp, were found on the road. The horse was discovered in an exhausted condition, a mile or two further on, but no trace of Neff has yet been obtained. It is thought he was thrown into a thicket along the road, where, probably in an injured condition, he died, but nothing definite is known.

A Thousand Deaths.

Who that has worn ready-made boots and shoes is not able to endorse the above, as it is but seldom that a pair of boots or shoes can be purchased that will fit the feet. The remedy is—buy from Taggart 129 Federal street Allegheny, who keeps the greatest possible variety of makes of the same number. A boot or shoe to be comfortable must fit every part of the foot and so conform to it that uneasiness in any part will be impossible. This is the kind you can purchase at Taggarts'.

HEALTH STATISTICS.

Reports of the Meat Inspector and the Physician to the Board of Health.

The Board of Health was to have held a meeting yesterday afternoon, but only Drs. Thomas and McCann were present, and two not constituting a quorum no business was transacted.

The following reports were on the table ready for action:

Meat Inspector Lindsay's report for the quarter ending June 30, 1876, as follows:

Condemned and confiscated food: 2,000 pounds of beef, 800 pounds of veal, 400 pounds of mutton, 3,000 pounds of fresh fish, 11 hams, two casks of salt fish, three barrels of eggs, 16 boxes of peaches, four head of calves, and large quantities of vegetables, which were unfit for consumption.

His report of stock shipped from the East Liberty yard is:

To Philadelphia—Cattle, 12,801; horses, 2,400; hogs, 39,690; sheep, 48,990; mules, 125

To New York—Cattle, 50,496; horses, 912; hogs, 106,560; sheep, 149,205.

To Baltimore—Horses, 16; hogs, 8,640.

To points between East Liberty and Philadelphia—Cattle, 5,640; horses, 336; hogs, 1,150; sheep, 9,870.

Totals—Cattle, 68,937; horses, 3,664; hogs, 156,040; sheep, 208,065; mules, 125

Dr. W. Snively, Physician to the Board, had ready his report for the four weeks ending July 29th. The death rate was equivalent to 30 66 per 1,000 inhabitants annually, (population estimated at 145,000). There were 145 deaths of infants under one year of age, and 84 of children between the ages of one and five years, making 66 96 per cent., or a little over two-thirds of the motality. Cholera infantum was reported as the cause of 62 of these deaths, (though Dr. S. is of the opinion that there was not a single case of genuine cholera infantum, many physicians reporting every case of diarrhea as cholera infantum); diarrhea, 22; teething, 19; convulsions, 18.

As compared with the previous month, scarlet fever exhibits an increase, both in the number of cases reported and mortality; while smallpox, typhoid fever and diphtheria show a decided decrease.

	No. of cases reported.	No. of deaths.
Smallpox	23	9
Scarlet fever	19	11
Typhoid fever	4	0
Diphtheria	4	4

The comparative mortality is as follows:

July, 1873, five weeks	502
July, 1874, five weeks	455
July, 1875, four weeks	291
July 1876, four weeks	342

PUBLIC WORSHIP to-morrow morning at 10½ o'clock in the Sixth U. P. church corner of Collins avenue and Station st., (East End), will be conducted by Rev. T. H. Hanna, of Xenia Ohio, formerly pastor of the Second church, this city.

WHY is it that there are so many vacant pulpits in Pittsburgh? We very much fear the salaries paid our ministers here are the cause of it. Preachers have about concluded they are entitled to more than their board and clothes, and they are right.

BUTLER, Brownsdale, Harmony, and Emory will a hold camp meeting on the farm of Nathan Brown, near the Pittsburgh and Butler Plank Road, about eight miles south of Butler, commencing on Wednesday, the 23d inst., to continue one week.

ON Friday evening, Rev. J. R. Mulford, pastor of the Sewickley Baptist church, was ordained as a minister of that denomination. A number of prominent Baptist divines of this city and Allegheny participated in the ceremonies.

REV. J. M. FULTON has notified the Fourth U. P. Church, Allegheny, that he can not accept a call which, at a late meeting, that congregation unanimously voted to extend to him. This, though not unexpected, is much regretted by the members of that church.

WE learn that Rev. John De Witt, who was called to the Third church of this city some three months since, and who during his brief residence here has won a high place in the regards of that church and in the esteem of his ministerial brethren, has felt constrained to decline the call.—Presbyterian Banner.

MR. C. S. ROSE will lead the Sunday school teachers' noon meeting to-day at the Y. M. C. A. Rooms. Subject: "The Call of Wisdom." The Sabbath school teachers of the county are requested to remain a few minutes after the close of this meeting to make some arrangements concerning the proposed camp meeting of Sabbath school workers.

PIC-NICS on the Sabbath day are becoming quite frequent here of late. We understand there is to be one to-morrow in a grove near Wilkins avenue, in the Twenty-second ward, where dancing will be the order of the day. Some two weeks ago one was held at the same place. We are surprised that the owner permits "God's first temples" to be so desecrated.

A DISPATCH received from "Mother" Stewart, a venerable lady, distinguished for her zeal and prudence in Ohio, and more recently for the warm greetings extended to her in England, Ireland and Scotland, is to the effect that she will arrive in this city this evening, and we learn that she will deliver addresses in the hall of the Temperance Alliance to-morrow at 3 and 7½ o'clock P. M.

THE leading Unitarian organ of Boston denies that Theodore Parker as a teacher ranks next to Channing among Liberal Christians. It says James Martineau, or even James Freeman Clarke, exerts a more powerful influence in behalf of the cause throughout the world than Parker. The writings of the latter, with all their conceded merits, are too intemperate, dogmatic, and illiberal in their treatment of opponents to disarm prejudice or obtain calm or favorable attention to his thoughts.

THE Second U. P. Church, Sixth avenue, this city, made out a formal call on Wednesday evening, the 9th, for Rev. J. R. Kyle, late of Fall River, Mass., to become their pastor. Mr. K. is comparatively a young man, a native of Xenia, O., and a son of the late Hon. Samuel Kyle, for many years one of the Associate Judges of Green County. He received his theological education at Xenia, and was a fellow student with Rev. T. H. Hanna, the late pastor of this church.

THE old prejudice against the organ in church is rapidly dying out in Scotland. The steady increase in the number of church organs in the principal cities and towns is so great that Scotland cannot furnish organists enough. The scarcity of Scotch people who can properly play the organ is so great that organists have to be imported from England. Prejudice dies hard, however, and in some of the country places there are to be found plenty of Scotch men and Scotch women who would tramp indignantly out of church at the first sound of the notes of the "unholy kist o' whistles," as they persist in calling the organ.

A LETTER, written on the Rocky Mountain summit, 12,000 feet above the sea, has just been received from Rev. S. B. Reed, late pastor of the Fifth U. P. church. After two years' very successful labor at Evans, Colorado, organizing a prosperous congregation, and erecting a house of worship, which they enter next Sabbath, he goes, by appointment of the General Assembly, to take charge of the Freedmen's Normal School, at Knoxville, Tenn. His many friends, wherever he is known, will wish him success in his new field.

THE question is now being seriously asked by many warm friends of the Sunday School, whether it has not measurably failed to produce the results expected of it, and promised for it? Let us not be hasty in our replies to this important question. We all desire its greatest good, and many feel that their desires are not realized. There are causes for this. We suggest—whether the matter has not been overdone in some instances? Have not children been lifted into undue importance, and educated to believe that in some way the Lord and the people are under many obligations to them for their attendance at Sunday School? And have they not been bribed to go there by various novel and sweet inducements until they often come to regard the matter in a very selfish light? What should be the true object of the Sunday School, anyway?—Methodist Recorder.

"ON THE GRAND PARADE."

The Pittsburgh Troops in Thursday's Demonstration at Philadelphia.

The Philadelphia Press of yesterday contains a very extended account of the demonstration of the National Guard of Pennsylvania in the city on Thursday. To the Pittsburgh Division was accorded the second honor, the left of the line. Concerning it the Press says: The 6th, or Pittsburgh division, was commanded by Major Alfred L. Pearson, whose staff includes: Major W. W. Powers, Assistant Adjutant General; Major J. B. Steen, Quartermaster; Major J. H. Dickson, commissary; Major J. B. Stewart, paymaster; Major Fife, Surgeon-in-chief; Aides-de-camp, Major Haymaker, E. F. Pearson, T. C. Stewart, and Van Fowler. The division presented an elegant appearance and was particularly remarked for their superb marching. Then followed the 14th Regiment, as follows: Colonel S. W. Hill, Lieutenant Colonel J. H. Gray, Major James Glenn, Adjutant D. M. Howe, Quartermaster G. Olnhausen, Commissary T. J. Wallace, Paymaster H. P. Moore, Surgeon J. G. McCandless, Chaplain S. J. Wilson. There are nine companies in this regiment and 506 men.

The Eighteenth Regiment held the right of the line. The command wore dark blue uniforms, with light blue trimmings, and shakos with white plumes. It was officered as follows: Colonel N. P. Guthrie; Major H. Howard; Adjutant John Cowley; Quartermaster J. S. Ward; Commissary M. H. Markle; Paymaster J. M. Osborne; Surgeon A. H. Gross. There were seven companies and four hundred men in the regiment. A band and drum corps preceded the regiment.

The Nineteenth Regiment was commanded by Colonel Edward W. C. Negley; Major W. W. Tyson, the latter being in command. There were five companies and three hundred men in the regiment. The uniform was gray coat, white pants, dark shako with white plumes. With this regiment, on horseback, was a colored man, attired in the full uniform of a Major General. "General Jackson," as he is known, has been identified with the regiment ever since its organization, and has participated with it in all its campaignings.

The Hutchinson Battery, commanded by Captain Edward L. Breck, with six brass six-pounders, and numbering eighty-three men, followed the Eighteenth Regiment. This battery was the opponent of the Keystone Battery in the late artillery contest at Cape May, and in consequence attracted great attention. The rear of this, the grandest military demonstration of the times, was brought up by the famous Knap Battery, one of the finest artillery commands of the late war, and its reputation for gallantry and effective service is universal. Captain J. E. Schwartz has with him seventy-eight men, and four field-pieces of three-inch calibre.

The Times says: General Pearson's Division, the Pittsburgh troops, was unanimously conceded to be the best drilled and best uniformed division in the line outside of the city troops.

If it were not for the unfortunate mixing of the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Regiments the foregoing would be a very flattering notice of our troops. It is quite evident that the writer of the article was muddled, as the Greys do not wear blue uniforms nor do the boys of the Nineteenth wear grey coats and white pants.

Court Brevities.

JUDGE KETCHAM left the city for a brief visit to his home at Wilkes Barre, yesterday and will be absent until the 21st inst.

IN 1874 George Mays was elected principal of the Beaverfalls school, but before he took charge the directors secured a teacher in his place so that Mays was left out in the cold. He brought suit for a year's salary and has obtained judgment against the school-board for about one thousand dollars which was paid off last week.

DR. F. HARDTMYER, yesterday instituted proceedings in Common Pleas Court No. 1 against Henry F. Eggers, to recover damages for slander. He alleges that Eggers stated publicly that he Hardtmyer was a quack and did not know how to treat a case. The plaintiff is a prominent german physician and the defendant a druggist in Allegheny city.

PITTSBURGH, August 10, 1876.

It affords me much pleasure to be able to add my testimony to that of many others in reference to the superior quality of the glasses sold by Mr. Kornblum, as well as to his skill and judgment in adjusting and providing such glasses as very materially improve the vision of those who, of necessity, are obliged to use them. Though I have tried the work of other opticians, due regard for superior merit compels me to say that I have experienced greater relief and pleasure from the glasses furnished me by Mr. Kornblum than those of others. I do most heartily recommend this gentleman to all those who may have occasion to need the services of a skillful optician, as one competent to give entire satisfaction, and worthy of the confidence of the public.

CHAS. G. MILNOR,
Secretary and Treasurer
Pittsburgh Bank for Savings.

Such testimony as the above, coming from a gentleman who is entirely reliable, and who could not be deceived or influenced in his judgment, is a strong card as to the genuine worth of the glasses prepared by Mr. Kornblum. His unprecedented success during the short time he has been in the city is another straw showing that he understands his business, and that his methods of treatment are entitled to the consideration of the public. His rooms are with R. S. Davis & Co., corner of Wood street and Fifth avenue.

The Galaxy.

The Galaxy for September will contain a biographical sketch of General Custer, written by Captain Frederick Whittaker, of the cavalry service; also a continuation of General Custer's "War Memoirs." The publishers of the Galaxy received copy from General Custer just before his death, and his "War Memoirs" will be continued in several numbers of the Galaxy. Ex-Secretary Wells will also contribute articles in the next two numbers of the Galaxy on "The Nomination and Election of Abraham Lincoln." Also articles by Richard Grant White, Albert Rhodes and J. H. Siddons, together with several interesting short stories and poems.

Camp Meeting at Wildwood Grove.

The camp meeting of the colored people at Castle Shannon is daily becoming more interesting. We notice among the ladies prominent revivalists from abroad. Several others are expected on Saturday to take part in the Sunday services. Too much cannot be said of the energy and zeal with which these women are working and of the good which has resulted.

Closing Out.

Silk Sun Umbrellas, Lace Curtains, Marseilles Quilts and Hamburg Edgings and Flouncings closing out at the lowest cash prices at H. J. Lynch's, No. 96 Market street.

Following the squirrel along the fence, he attempted to corner it with the butt end of his gun, when the trigger snapped, discharging the entire contents of the barrel into the boy's limbs. Smith's residence, but the supply of water here was found to be inadequate to the wants of a hatching house, and the drive was continued several miles in the direction of Fayette Springs, to a place known as the Watering Troughs, which was also found to be unsuitable, and the party returned to Connellsville, where they put up for the night. The next morning Meyer's Springs were visited, and were found also unsuitable. The party then spent the balance of the day in fishing at the Ohio Pyle Falls. The result of the investigation was, that there was not a suitable place in that country for the State Hatching House, and the Commissioners left for the country in Westmoreland county, in the neighborhood of Latrobe, in which they are now prospecting.

ON THURSDAY evening the money drawer in Joseph Neely's drug store, on Rebecca street, Allegheny, was robbed of its contents, about $6, by a boy.

BARNEY MEENAN and James Mitchell, charged before Alderman McMasters with aggravated assault and battery some days since, were arrested yesterday, and in default of bail in $1,000 each, were committed to jail.

BELLE MCFARLAND, keeper of the house on Miltenberger alley, where "Bull" White and Neelie Burns raised the row on Thursday night, made an information against Hattie Garland, charging her with fornication, the alleged offense being committed with the prosecutrix's husband. A warrant was issued.

THERE was a hearing in the case of the Commonwealth vs. Fred. Fallbush, charged with obtaining money from the county by false pretenses, yesterday. There were no new facts developed at the hearing. The alderman reserved his decision. The hearing in the case against Capt. Timony, who is charged with the same offense, was postponed until Sept. 1st.

THE hearing in the case of Pat. McCormick vs. Barney Meenan and James Mitchel, wherein defendants are charged with having forced the plaintiff violently out of a skiff and assaulted him, was held before Alderman Gallagher yesterday morning, when Meenan was held in default of $300 bail for trial at court. Mitchel's whereabouts is not known.

THERE was a hearing at Alderman Kreuter's office yesterday in the case of the Commonwealth vs. John G. Woernley, charged with disposing of his property to defraud creditors. The prosecutor alleges that in June, 1872, he sold to the defendant several houses on East street, Allegheny, together with one on Gerst alley, for $4,500; that Woernley paid him but $512; that he took no security for the payment of the balance, but that Woernley assured him that he intended to get some $1,500 from a Building and Loan Association, and that he would use that money towards the liquidation of the debt; that Woernley did draw the money from the association; that he failed to pay any of it to him; that he repeatedly asked him for it, but that he was each time put off with an excuse, and that finally Woernley entered into a conspiracy with others to have his property sold by the Sheriff, and has never yet paid any of the balance of the purchase money. The Alderman reserved his decision.

THE NEW OIL TERRITORY.

Where It is Located.

For the last two days our cotemporaries have been trying to locate the flowing oil well lately struck in the oil country, and have had it in almost every township in Butler and Venango counties. The well is on Bullion run, Clinton township, Venango county, about three miles from Scrubgrass station, on the Allegheny Valley Railroad, west side of the Allegheny river. The well at last accounts was flowing about one hundred barrels a day. It is creating a great deal of excitement in the oil country, and operators are leasing the surrounding territory. Well No. 2 will be down the latter part of next week and will decide whether the territory is good for oil or not.

The Genuine Centennial Bullock.

We would call the special attention of our friends to the fact that the well known and popular butcher, Mr. Charles B. Welte, has come into possession of the great Centennial Bullock which he will slaughter and have ready for market on Saturday at stalls Nos. 80 and 87, Pittsburgh. The meat is of a superior quality, at the same time it will be sold at the usual low prices. Our readers will doubtless remember seeing this fine animal in the last grand Fourth of July procession. He is only three years old, and weighs 2,085 lbs.—probably the finest animal of his age ever brought to this city; and we would advise our friends to take a look at friend Welts on Saturday.

Bargains.

Ladies' Silk Sacques, Linen Dusters and Shawls at a great bargain at H. J. Lynch's, No. 96 Market street.

Something Worth Knowing.

A few days ago, happening to meet a young man of our acquaintance who looked as if he had just been lifted out of a bandbox, we were prompted, from the general neatness of his outfit, to ask where he had purchased his new suit. He said at Eisner & Phillips', corner of Wood street and Fifth avenue. We suggested that of course the suit had been ordered to measure. He said not at all; that he had selected it from among the large stock of ready-made suits that filled their counters. And yet how neat and genteel.

Advice.

If you would be respected, successful in business, and personally comfortable, you should have your suits made by B. Tiegel, No. 53 Smithfield street, whose stock of fashionable suitings are of the most excellent and durable material, and whose reputation for the manufacture of neatly fitting garments is beyond question. He is one of the men for whom Diogenes searched, and, therefore, you need not fear that he will charge you two prices. Cheap.

Save 30 Per Cent. by buying your Queensware, Crockeryware, etc., at Reno's, 19 Federal street, Allegheny. Give him a trial.

Square Meals.

How rarely do we find a meal of this class at our restaurants and dining halls? Yet Mrs. Bair, No. 108 Fourth avenue, will not stoop to the preparation and serving of a meal which is not in every respect first-class. Those who eat to live, as well as those who live to eat, can be gratified to the fullest capacity at this popular dining-room.

What is Your Destination?

Let your summer resort be where it may, you can find books descriptive of its scenery, curiosities and all points of interest connected with it, at the Book and News Depot of Gildenfenny & Co., 69 Fifth avenue; or you can get books the reading of which will keep you cool and comfortable at home.

Young men are prepared to enter any eastern college after leaving this school.

THE EXPOSITION.

Space in Demand—Advice to Exhibitors—The Balloon.

The managers of the Exposition are getting down to "hard pan" now, and are working in earnest. In the early part of the season they were working to get persons to exhibit their goods, and now they are as busily engaged in making arrangements to accommodate exhibitors.

It is not a bad indication, so far as the success of the exhibition is concerned, that there should be squabbling over the assignments of space. Of course this state of things is not at all pleasant to the managers; but it seems unavoidable, from the tardiness which some applicants have shown in the selection of their space. For instance a person who had a position on the main floor last year, states verbally that he will take the same place this year, and yet makes no written application, so that his space can be properly assigned him. Another party, who has his application in regular form, asks for the space which the managers would fain keep for the verbal applicant, but cannot do so, as they have no guarantee that it will be taken at all. Just such a case occurred Thursday. A well known firm, who had a good position last year, said they would want their old space again, and it was held for them until yesterday, although they had not made a formal application. A few hours after the space had been assigned to another, a member of the firm appeared at the office, and raised quite a rumpus when he learned what had been done. To settle the difficulty, part of an aisle had to be closed up so as to get additional room. There have been half a dozen such cases and will undoubtedly be many more unless those intending to exhibit, and who have not yet filled out their applications, attend to this needful formality, and get their space assigned. There is nothing whatever gained by "hanging back," and those who have permitted their fears to deter them from prompt action, need not feel any further hesitation. It is extremely desirable that all act promptly in this matter, so that a full display can be made on the opening day—the 16th inst.

All day Thursday and at night Prof. Gilbert had his corps of sewing-girls running a whole cargo of sewing machines making his big new balloon—the "City of Pittsburgh." Net weavers are hard at work on the netting; special ropes, light and strong, are being made; the basket is under construction, and everything is going forward as fast as the Professor's energy can hurry it, for he is bound to have that balloon go up on Wednesday. If he succeeds it will certainly be a triumph over time and adverse circumstances.

THE NATIONAL GAME.

To-day's Contest Between the Morning and Evening Reporters—Pick Ups.

This afternoon the Anchor Club, of the Thirtieth ward, and the Browns, of Allegheny, will play at Union Park, Allegheny.

An attractive sight, an evening or two since, on Federal street, Allegheny, was that of two prominent base ball players going down street each having hold of the opposite ends of a cane, which was thrust through a big watermelon.

The proposed contest between the morning and evening news gatherers will be played this afternoon.

Capt. Shaw has selected the following amiable gentlemen to represent the morning press: J. D. Ramsey, GAZETTE, 3d b; John N. Neeb, Freiheits Freund, r f; John S. Ritenour, GAZETTE, s s; Frank Higgins, Post, 1st b; J. M. Vernon Dispatch, c; T. E. Hewitt, Dispatch, 1 f; J. M. Hudson, Commercial, p; John Errett, Commercial, c f; C. N. Shaw, Dispatch, 2d b.

The following "strong cast" has been made by Capt. P. F. Smith to wield the willows on behalf of our evening cotemporaries: T. D. Carnahan, Chronicle, 1 b; Fred. Mueller, Chronicle, r. f; Wilfred Nevin, Leader, 2 b; Thomas Fulwood, Leader, p; Charles Jahn, Leader, c. f; Alex. Fulton, Mail, l. f; P. F. Smith, Telegraph, c; Harry Palmer, Chronicle, s. s; Jas. F. Livingstone, Mail, 3 b.

The reporters will reach the grounds at Hazelwood by the train on the B. & O. R. R. leaving the city at 3:45 p. m. This is the express train and does not stop regularly until it reaches McKeesport, but through the courtesy of Mr. R. Evans, passenger agent, has not only made arrangements to have the train stop at Grove station, but has also provided free transportation for all the members of the press who desire to go.

Report says that the Liddell club, which started on an Eastern tour on Wednesday, suffered a defeat at the hands of an Altoona nine by a score of 10 to 7.

A LIGHTNING STROKE.

One Boy Instantly Killed and Two Others Badly Injured.

About five o'clock last evening James Twigger, a boy about nine years of age was playing with two companions on the railroad track, opposite the Irwin foundry, at Irwin Station, when the storm came up and all three were struck by lightning, young Twigger being instantly killed, and his companions badly and probably fatally shocked. They were all knocked senseless and were conveyed in that condition to their homes, their parents living near by. It was then found that Twigger was dead, but the two other boys, whose names we did not learn shortly returned to consciousness, but are suffering very much.

The Human Machine.

Although the mechanism of the human system is of the most perfect construction, and capable of great endurance, yet, is the maxim a true one that "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." But, says many a one, I am compelled to remain at my post, the state of my finances not permitting either myself or my family to leave the city, etc. This is but a lame excuse, as a pleasant and healthful resort is within a few hours' ride of the city, a visit to which will be but slight interruption to the most exacting business. What more delightful retreat could you wish that Cresson, with a mountain altitude of two thousand feet. Or what more home-like and enjoyable place can you find than the Mountain House at Cresson, superintended by J. D. McClelland, who has no superior as a genial, clever and accommodating landlord. Go to Cresson with your family, or if not convenient to go yourself, then do not be guilty of the sin of keeping your family from going.

The Brakemen's Strike.

CINCINNATI, August 11.—The general situation with the striking brakemen on the Ohio & Mississippi Railroad remains unchanged. No freight trains have passed over the road to-day, but passenger trains are uninterrupted. It is reported that the machinists in the company's shops at Vincennes have declared themselves in sympathy with the brakemen, but it is not expected that they will strike. Loud talk is freely indulged in, but no violence has occurred. The strikers are assembling at Seymour from other points on the road. State warrants have been issued for the leaders in the strike, charging them with the larceny of coupling pins, etc., but thus far no person has been found to serve them. An appeal of the railroad authorities to Governor Hendricks for officers to preserve the peace and protect railroad property has not been answered, it is said owing to the Governor's absence from the State. The marshal at Seymour says he cannot interfere till a breach of the peace occurs, when he promises material aid in quelling disturbances.

VEGETINE

Purifies the Blood, Renovates and Invigorates the Whole System.

Its Medicinal Properties are

ALTERATIVE, TONIC, SOLVENT AND DIURETIC.

VEGETINE is made exclusively from the juices of carefully selected barks, roots and herbs, and so strongly concentrated that it will effectually eradicate from the system, every taint of Scrofula, Scrofulous Humor, Tumors, Cancer, Cancerous Humors, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Syphilitic Diseases, Canker, Faintness at the Stomach, and all diseases that arise from impure blood. Sciatica, Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Gout and Spinal Complaints, can only be effectually cured through the blood.

For Ulcers and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, Pustules, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, Tetter, Scaldhead and Ringworm, VEGETINE has never failed to effect a permanent cure.

For Pains in the Back, Kidney Complaints, Dropsy, Female weakness, Leucorrhœa, raising from internal ulceration, and uterine diseases and General Debility, VEGETINE acts directly upon the causes of these complaints. It invigorates and strengthens the whole system, acts upon the secretive organs, allays inflammation, cures ulceration, and regulates the bowels.

For Catarrh, Dyspepsia, Habitual Costiveness, Palpitation of the Heart, Headache, Piles, Nervous and General prostration of the Nervous System, no medicine has ever given such perfect satisfaction as the VEGETINE. It purifies the blood, cleanses all the organs, and possesses a controlling power over the nervous system.

The remarkable cures effected by VEGETINE have induced many physicians and apothecaries whom we know to prescribe and use it in their own families.

In fact, VEGETINE is the best remedy yet discovered for the above diseases, and it is the only reliable BLOOD PURIFIER yet placed before the public.

PREPARED BY

H. R. STEVENS, Boston, Mass.

WHAT IS VEGETINE? It is a compound extracted from barks, roots and herbs. It is Nature's Remedy. It is perfectly harmless from any bad effect upon the system. It is nourishing and strengthening. It acts directly upon the blood. It quiets the nervous system. It gives you good, sweet sleep at night. It is a great panacea for our aged fathers and mothers, for it gives them strength, quiets their nerves, and gives them Nature's sweet sleep—as has been proved by many an aged person. It is the great Blood Purifier. It is a soothing remedy for our children. It has relieved and cured thousands. It is very pleasant to take; every child likes it. It relieves and cures all diseases originating from impure blood. Try the VEGETINE. Give it a fair trial for your complaints; then you will say to your friend, neighbor and acquaintance, "Try it; it has cured me."

VEGETINE, for the complaints for which it is recommended, is having a larger sale throughout the United States than any other one medicine. Why? Vegetine will Cure these Complaints.

VALUABLE INFORMATION.

BOSTON, December 12, 1869.

Gentlemen: My only object in giving you this testimonial is to spread valuable information. Having been badly afflicted with Salt Rheum, and the whole surface of my skin being covered with pimples and eruptions, many of which caused me great pain and annoyance, and knowing it to be a blood disease, I took many of the advertised blood preparations, among which was any quantity of Sarsaparilla, without obtaining any benefit, until I commenced taking the VEGETINE, and before I had completed the first bottle I saw that I had got the right medicine. Consequently I followed on with it until I had taken seven bottles, when I was pronounced a well man, and my skin is smooth and entirely free from pimples and eruptions. I have never enjoyed so good health before, and I attribute it all to the use of VEGETINE. To benefit those afflicted with Rheumatism, I will make mention also of the VEGETINE'S wonderful power of curing me of this acute complaint, of which I have suffered so intensely.
